

TWENTY million dollars, from practical business men, to promote useless knowledge. That is the startling proposal of an organization headed by Herbert Hoover, to spend this huge sum to find out things in pure science, whose use nobody knows. And they call it a good investment.

PURE science has been falling behind in America. We have twenty men and dollars for applied science to every one for pure science. We spend perhaps ten million a year, with 500 full-time investigators and the spare time of 5000 teachers, to find out the truth for its own sake, and two hundred millions, and 30,000 full-time men, to devise ways of turning these discoveries into the money. One man, underpaid, overworked and under-equipped, overlooks the mathematics of electronics. Then twenty men, liberally supported, leap to the job of making those formulas run machinery. But unless the one man investigated the pure mathematics, the twenty would have had nothing to work on in devising the machine. So, lest their technologists work themselves out of a job and progress stop, financiers will subsidize the theorists.

MODERN progress, dependent absolutely on pure science, is nevertheless its chief handicap. Universities would soon have nothing to teach unless they had investigators to discover it. But student bodies have grown so rapidly that the university resources are stretched just to do the teaching and research languages. Industry must have pure science as its fountain-head, but it has itself grown so technical that it hires the scientists away from the universities for its technicians. So the stream gives out, because those who should have conserved it at the top have all been building turbines at the bottom.

This has always been the case. The only thing new is that practical business men are now finding it out. They tell a story of Faraday, when he made his first electric machine, a mere toy. "But what good is it?" a member of parliament asked. "Some day you will be able to do it," replied the inventor. And now they do tax it, fifty billion dollars of it. And the men who administer those billions know the use of the useless.

HELIUM was first discovered by an astronomer, in the sun. Now it will win the next war, as the foundation of much practical chemistry. Radium, and star-spectrums, started us for the electron, the smallest and most theoretical thing in the universe. Now we run radio in that knowledge, and scarcely dare suggest how much more is to follow. The theoretical study of the molecular structure of hydrocarbon radiology and insulin. And insulin, prolonging life, makes money for life insurance companies, who can afford to contribute to research, to save more life. Biochemistry has already given us, in bottles in laboratories which might truthfully be labeled "charismatic," "intelligence," "courage," "they are the actual substances whose presence or absence in the blood determines these qualities. It is not impossible that some laboratory will find the chemical remedy for stupidity and sin, and it is certain that psychology, the least tangible of science, has taken long steps toward solving the wastes of human inefficiency and crime. Dr. Millikan's new cosmic ray bids fair to unlock the secret of creation. That is not "useful," but perhaps some one can turn it into the only "useful" thing, which is money. This "theory" is practical. The miracle is that practical men have found it out.

YOU don't need to put new "teeth" into dry laws. Just dig up the old laws, that the "wets" passed themselves when the moon-shiner and the bootlegger were their competitors. For instance, some one has dug up a law that makes illegal distilling a felony, with a penitentiary term and a $5000 fine. That was passed at the behest of the distillers, when the illegal manufacturer cheated the state out of its license fee and undercut the prices of taxed dealers. The "one-half per cent" standard was set long ago, at the behest of the brewers, to protect them against the competition. And there was never so drastic a "search and seizure" law as that which the saloons of San Francisco lobbied through, against their competitors, the blind pigs. These things were all right, to protect the liquor traffic. They became "tyranny" only when used to suppress it.

STANDING under the arch of Constantine, Benito Mussolini, "Caesar of the Modern Empire," celebrated the 2,680th birthday of Rome. The thousandth birthday had been celebrated with great magnificence. The two thousandth, four Rome so far in the decline that nobody noticed it. Now with the three thousandth only 320 years away, Mussolini is already preparing to be remembered at it. Perhaps it will be celebrated under his arch, instead of Constantine's.

TO UNDERSTAND Mussolini and Fascism, you must reverse every idea you have always taken for granted. You must enter a world where men walk on their heads, eat sunlight, breathe water, and count twice two as seventeen. In other words, liberty is a wrong; free government is undesirable; governments should not be elected by the people and do not depend on their consent; citizens should obey, not laws, but orders; education is a bad thing, except for the

Bakersfield Oil Fire Under Control

HUGE BLAZE IS STARTED BY LIGHTNING

Flames Confined to One Tank in Center of Field; No Fear Felt for Spread

LOSS IS HALF MILLION

Hundreds of Workers at Scene Labor Under Difficulty of Heavy Rain

(By United Press)
BAKERSFIELD, April 30.—Further destruction of the big oil fire in the Standard Oil company's storage field, near here, was believed averted today.

The fire was still confined to one huge tank in the center of the field at 10:30 a. m., and oil men, directing an army of 400 workers, were confident it would spread no further.

The blazing tank, which contained half a million barrels of low gravity oil when it was fired by a bolt of lightning last night, has been given up. It will cost $250,000 to rebuild the reservoir, and it was estimated that at least half of the oil would be destroyed before the blaze burned itself out, making a total loss of $500,000.

Oil Being Pumped Out
Meanwhile much of the oil in the big underground container was being rapidly pumped out. This, it was believed, had prevented the boiling liquid from spilling over and spreading to surrounding tanks.

Firebreaks of salvaged iron and dirt were constructed around the flaming vat of oil, as a barrier against the molten oil, should it overflow the rim.

The fire fighters worked under difficulties, torrential rains of the last 24 hours causing big pools of water in the field of operations.

Unlike the disastrous Union Oil company fires at San Luis Obispo and Brea, there was no danger from explosions. The low-gravity content of the burning oil precluded this danger.

Tanks Are Underground
Only the surfaces of the big tanks are exposed, all the containers in this field being of the underground type.

The main storage field, containing more than 40 underground storage vats, is two miles distant. This field was not believed in danger.

The countryside for miles around was enveloped in clouds of dense, greasy smoke.

Hundreds of curious persons motored to the scene of the fire but were kept a safe distance away by special armed guards patrolling the danger zone.

Eye-witnesses told of seeing the lightning strike the tank. A vivid flash lit up the sky over the field, and was followed instantaneously by a gigantic burst of flame, and spirals of thick, black smoke.

A near cloudburst in this vicinity caused considerable damage to highways and railroad lines.

The village of Coalinga, in west Fresno county, experienced some damage from floods, according to advices here, with water a foot deep on Main street.

Several bridges in Fresno county were washed away by flood waters, and hundreds of acres of lowland farm country were inundated.

MANY FLORAL TRIBUTES PAID RETIRING JUDGE

When Superior Judge R. Y. Williams mounted the bench today for the last time in his court, he gazed out over a sea of flowers.

The good will and friendships cemented by his seven years on the bench were expressed in what was declared to be one of the most beautiful floral arrays ever assembled in Santa Ana.

In bidding farewell to the revered jurist, his colleagues, public officials, members of the legal profession and the lay public joined in a tremendous ovation. Mostly it was said with flowers, which were heaped in profusion at all vantage points of the courtroom.

For once the verbal bouquets, which lawyers reserve for one another in the courtroom, were overshadowed. The flowers dominated the scene completely.

There was one verbal bouquet for the judge. It was delivered by L. A. West, veteran Santa Ana attorney, just after court was opened by Bailiff W. E. Bates, who wore an unwontedly sober expression, as he reflected it was the last time he would rap for order for Judge Williams.

Attorney West Speaks
Attorney West, in a few brief remarks, assured Judge Williams of the regret with which the Orange County Bar association views the retirement of the jurist, who has served since January 1, 1919, but is now forced to leave the bench because of ill health.

His reply equally brief, Judge Williams expressed his thanks for the courtesies shown him by the legal profession, his appreciation of past co-operation and of the present tribute. It was plain that the court was deeply moved.

"These flowers are beautiful," he said, "but more beautiful still, to me, is the friendship that inspired their offering."

Their procedure connected with estates now being probated, Judge E. J. Marks presided over the probate calendar today for Judge Williams. Being unable, because of his retirement, to later complete proceedings that might be heard today, Judge Williams asked Judge Marks to preside.

Pictures Are Taken
Twice the proceedings were interrupted for photographers to take pictures of the courtroom. During one intermission, the bar association held a meeting in the jury room and passed resolutions urging Gov. Friend W. Richardson to make an appointment of Judge Williams' successor without delay in order to avoid further congestion of the court calendars.

Among those sending floral offerings to Judge Williams today were his secretary, Miss Bernice Hays; E. J. Bates, court clerk; Mrs. W. E. Bates, wife of the court bailiff; Judge J. B. West, Judge E. J. Marks, Justice K. E. Morrison, former clerk of Judge Williams' court; Janitor Dan Patrick, the departments of clerk, auditor, treasurer, assessor, horticultural commissioner, road department, district attorney and attaches, R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools; sheriff's office, juvenile court department, probation department, official court reporters, traffic officers' department, tax collectors' office, county library, Attorney John B. Nichols and the Santa Ana Daily Register.

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, April 30.—Allotments of $45,000,000 for maintenance and improvement of river and harbor works, under the congressional appropriation of $50,000,000, were approved today by Secretary of War Davis.

Davis also announced that his department planned to put all such work on a five-year basis and would ask congressional approval of such a program, entailing expenditure of $50,000,000 a year.

Allotments can be altered by the war department if the progress of the work makes this advisable.

Among the allotments in today's list were:

POISON OYSTERS KILL NAVAL MAN

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Chief Pharmacist Kenneth M. Smith, U. S. navy, 38 years old, is dead and two other navy warrant officers are seriously ill, apparently from poisoning which followed a restaurant meal of fried oysters. Police, the coroner and naval medical authorities have started investigations and an autopsy will be held today.

Smith, stationed at Mare Island; Chief Boatswain James C. Legg, 35, stationed at Hampton Roads, and Chief Carpenter E. B. Berkstresser, 33, Mare Island, with three other warrant officers, became ill last night after the dinner, which followed their appearance before a congressional committee investigating naval pay.

They diagnosed their pains as indigestion and summoned a physician. After the physician left their hotel room, all three became seriously ill and Smith died suddenly.

BIG MAIL THEFT IS KEPT SECRET

LAFAYETTE, Ind., April 30.—Three postal inspectors were here today investigating a $100,000 mail robbery, which has been kept under cover for a week.

Two sacks of registered mail were taken from a truck at the Big Four railroad station here while awaiting shipment to Indianapolis.

Although the mail was taken a week ago today, the theft was kept secret in the hope of aiding the search for the robbers.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 30.—An airplane falling 2000 feet brought death to William D. Willis, 24, of Dallas, Tex., and Bessie Cole, a negro aviatrix, near here. The negro was killed instantly. Willis, who survived the crash, although badly injured, was cremated when a spectator lit a match near the wreck, flames enveloping the smashed plane.

BRITAIN NEAR CRISIS OVER MINING WAR

Baldwin Strives to Avert Coal Strike and Lockout, Scheduled for Midnight

KING RETURNS HOME

Privy Council Summoned to Discuss Grave Situation

LONDON, May 1.—The lock-out of British coal miners officially became effective at midnight tonight. All efforts of Premier Baldwin failed to effect an agreement between mine owners and workers to postpone the lockout when the government subsidy expired.

(By United Press)
LONDON, April 30.—With only seven hours remaining in which to avert the coal strike and lockout, which may begin at midnight, Premier Baldwin today met his cabinet in the house of commons to seek a last-minute peaceful settlement.

The cabinet was in session 90 minutes.

There was considerable activity in the lobbies, where opinion was unanimous that the situation was grave.

King Returns to London
It was understood that the privy council has been summoned to meet at Buckingham palace, to discuss the coal crisis. King George has left Windsor castle for London.

The conservative quarters confirmed that the miners had rejected the owners' offer, although the miners indicated that they "merely had submitted a counter proposal."

The developments increased speculation regarding the possibility that Baldwin might make use of the drastic emergency powers act, passed during the Lloyd George regime, to cope with the situation.

For Peace or War
Mines and mine owners are ready for peace or war. Arrangements have been made to feed 1,000,000 prospective strikers for a time in the event of a strike, but the extent to which the remainder of the 4,000,000 trades unionists would assist the miners is not known.

The eyes of Great Britain were on Premier Baldwin, who was understood to be hesitating to employ the one sure means of averting a simultaneous strike and lockout. That means would be continuance of the government subsidy to the coal industry, which, since it first was granted in August of last year, has cost the treasury department approximately $102,000,000.

Belgian Francs Suffer Decline

NEW YORK, April 30.—Belgian francs dropped to a new low point here today, opening at $0.3355, an overnight loss of $0.012. French francs dropped 2 1/2 points, despite favorable settlement of the debt to the United States. All other exchanges, with the exception of the Scandinavian, showed a decidedly lower level in early dealings. The latter gained briskly, Norway rising 25 points and Sweden 6 points.

WORK ENTHUSIASTIC OVER BOULDER DAM CONSTRUCTION

Interior Secretary Completes Inspection of Colorado Project

(By United Press)
LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 30.—His inspection of the Colorado river valley completed, Secretary of the Interior Hubert Work was enroute today on his return to the east.

Before departing, Secretary Work pledged the present national administration to support of the Boulder canyon dam project, which he predicts will be the greatest engineering feat of all time.

Accompanied by Dr. Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation, and others, the secretary peered into the great Boulder canyon, and was visibly impressed by its magnitude and potentialities.

"This is too big and great an undertaking for private enterprise," he said. "There is considerable objection to having the government undertake the work but that is the only logical way, in my opinion, to construct and maintain the dam."

Wants Boulder Dam Cash.
"This year, my department is asking for an appropriation of $129,000,000 less than in the first year of my administration. I feel that I have saved that money and I want $125,000,000 of it to spend on the Boulder dam project."

Secretary Work deplored the congressional delay in approving the project, and pledged his efforts to aid in a speedy settlement of the problem, complicated by conflicting claims of various interests involved.

The 600-foot-high Boulder dam, to be erected 31 miles from here, under the pending Swing-Johnson bill, would create the largest reservoir in the world. It would be 120 miles long, storing more than 18 months' flow of the Colorado river.

Irrigate 1,500,000 Acres.

The reservoir would irrigate 1,500,000 acres of desert land, to be allotted preferably to ex-servicemen. A total of 600,000 horsepower would be generated at the dam and this is expected to hasten the industrial development of the southwestern states by furnishing cheap power for factories.

An aqueduct from Los Angeles to the new reservoir will supply Southern California with drinking water for the indefinite future.

Las Vegas expects a great boom during the contemplated 10-year construction period, while all Nevada looks forward to a permanent development of mining with Boulder dam waterpower.

FIGHT FOR FARM AID BREAKS OUT

WASHINGTON, April 30.—An unexpected fight for farm relief legislation broke out in the senate today when Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, moved that the senate lay aside the public buildings bill and take up the Jardine bill, passed by the house, establishing a division of co-operative marketing in the agriculture department. At the same time, a special rule, providing for consideration of farm relief legislation in the house next week, was reported favorably by the house rules committee.

Under the rule, the Haugen bill will be called up Tuesday, with four days for debate.

MACHINE-GUNS IN PRISON'S TOWERS

SAN QUENTIN, April 30.—Machine-guns bristled from the towers and surrounding hills of San Quentin prison today in accordance with a recent order by the state prison board.

Six 1926 model Lewis guns were mounted and initiated in first target practice by a newly-appointed machine-gun squad, under Capt. Reviere Smith.

Mounting of the rapid-fire artillery was ordered as a precaution against possible future prison breaks, such as that which occurred last August, when five men escaped.

WIFE-BEATER FLOGGED AS WOMEN IN CROWD REJOICE

(By United Press)
BALTIMORE, Md., April 30.—James Kingsmore, convicted wife-beater, went to the whipping post in Baltimore's city jail today.

Four women stood among a crowd of 150 spectators who watched Sheriff Potts lay five light lashes with a cat-o-nine tails across the prisoner's back.

Kingsmore's bare back reddened, but there were no wails. Taken down from the whipping post, he collapsed from nervousness.

"I don't mind taking my medicine," he had told his jailers as they locked his hands around the whipping post, "but I don't think you ought to make a circus of it."

Kingsmore referred to the crowd that had gathered in the jail corridor to watch the infliction of the flogging sentence.

The four women who were among the spectators said they enjoyed the whipping, that "it was fine," and that "there ought to be more of them."

REED BRANDS SETTLEMENT GREAT STEAL

Foes of Administration's Policy Prepare for Battle Against Ratification

50 CENTS ON DOLLAR

President's Forces Confident Commission's Act Will Meet with Approval

(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 30.—With administration leaders confident of ratification of the French debt settlement at this session of congress, Senator Reed, Missouri, Democrat, foe of the administration's foreign debt settlements, told the United Press he and other opponents of the agreement would fight it desperately.

The settlement, concluded between the American debt funding commission and French Ambassador Berenger, and approved by the president, was termed by Reed a "great steal."

Calling for total payments of $8,847,674,104 in 62 years, the agreement, he held, was for less than 50 cents per dollar; did not represent France's ability to pay and was the outcome of dictation by "big business."

Pacts with 11 Nations
With the French now lined up at the paying window of the treasury department for settlement of their war obligations, the United States has now completed debt funding agreements with 11 foreign countries that will bring in $21,925,855,097.05 during the next 62 years.

This huge sum will be paid in annual installments by the countries that borrowed $10,355,948,078.89 from America during and after the war to tide them over financial difficulties.

The sum of nearly $22,000,000,000 includes all the principal and interest at various rates.

Six foreign nations are still indebted to the United States for war loans. Greece owes $17,625,000; Jugoslavia, $65,414,000; Roumania, $46,509,000; Russia, $255,147,000; Armenia, $15,000,000, and Liberia, $32,000.

Russian Debt Repudiated
A debt commission from Jugoslavia is now in Washington to settle that obligation. Russia has openly repudiated its debt and Armenia has ceased to exist as an independent nation, thus leaving these two debts of $270,000,000, a total of $270,000,000.

A messenger today took the French agreement, signed by President Coolidge and Ambassador Berenger to congress from the White House, where the machinery of the house of representatives will be started at once for speedy ratification of the measure, before the expected adjournment next month, if possible.

FRENCH CABINET APPROVES PACT
PARIS, April 30.—The French cabinet today approved the debt funding agreement signed yesterday in Washington by the American debt commissioners, on behalf of the United States, and the French ambassador, Henri Berenger.

France did not make all the concessions in reaching agreement. Finance Minister Peret announced, following the cabinet meeting, that the United Press was informed by a member of the cabinet that negotiations for private investments in France probably would be begun immediately with American financiers. But it was explained that economic co-operation would have nothing to do with loans for the French government, as for the moment the government is not contemplating any borrowing.

"The government tonight," he said, "will issue a full statement in order to indicate the terms of the accord in the most definite manner, so that there no longer will be doubts in the minds of the public. Certain reports have given the impression that only France made sacrifices, but the truth is that there also are advantages to France in the agreement which the cabinet has just approved."

With the cabinet's action, the agreement to fund the debt, which has been a major international problem for seven years, soon will become a subject of debate in the chamber of deputies. Examination of its provisions by the chamber finance committee will be the first step.

Question of Confidence
Premier Briand already has announced his intention of making approval of the agreement a question of confidence. He subscribed to the belief that, until funding agreements with the United States and Great Britain have been concluded, there is no prospect of stabilizing the French franc. French currency has distinguished itself during the last fortnight with almost daily slumps, which established new low records in the principal money markets of the world.

Signature to the funding agreement in Washington represents a great achievement by Senator Berenger.

AMERICAN POET DENIES THAT POE WAS DRUNKARD

Edwin Markham and (inset) Edgar Allan Poe, whom he defends.

Conclusions of Markham Are Based on Many Years of Study

WEST NEW BRIGHTON, N. Y., April 30.—Edgar Allan Poe, wandering star of America's literary firmament, lighted his pale torch from his own innate genius rather than from the glow produced by alcohol.

He was not a drunkard and a wastrel, as generally painted. Instead, he was, in every sense of the words, a gentleman and a scholar. With these declarations, Edwin Markham, one of the country's most gifted present-day poets, comes to the defense of the strange, little-understood genius who has been acclaimed as America's greatest lyric poet.

Fifty Years of Study. Dr. Markham speaks with a measure of authority, too, as he has carefully studied Poe's life for the past 50 years, reading all of his biographies and innumerable comments on his life and work.

"The world at large should give him his due. Much that has been written about him is false," says Dr. Markham. "He has been greatly lied about."

"He has been accused of being a common drunkard. Facts disprove this. His industry alone would disprove it. In 17 years, he wrote 17 volumes of the most carefully written poems, stories and criticisms. The actual time needed for the physical accomplishment of this great task would not leave leisure in which he could indulge in drunkenness."

"Poe suffered from what is known as congenital lesion. It was impossible for him to drink wine without serious consequences. The acceptance of an invitation to have a social drink would result in serious disability for days. It is not a fact that drinking contributed to the genius of Poe."

"He was a master critic. His criticism was just and honest. I have been unable to find any proof that he was dishonest in money matters or in his literary criticisms. "But when the lion is dead the

HELP IS OFFERED VANDERBILT SCION

NEW YORK, April 30.—An offer of $300,000 to finance the newspapers of Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr., today was made to the 28-year-old scion of an illustrious family by an east side youth but slightly older, who also has attained a foothold in the publishing business.

Harry H. Schlacht, president of the Downtown Chamber of Commerce and owner of a string of class and sectional newspapers, told young Vanderbilt that, if $300,000 could save the latter's newspapers, he would be glad to cooperate.

Vanderbilt set that figure this week in announcing that his family's refusal to finance further his newspaper ventures had brought his affairs to a crisis.

CALL GRAND JURY TO SIFT KILLINGS

CHICAGO, April 30.—Machine-gun rule of Chicago's underworld, which this week resulted in the deaths of an assistant state's attorney and two beer barons—will be placed under a rigid grand jury investigation, it was announced today.

State's attorney Robert E. Crowe, who yesterday was advised that he would be the next victim of the gangsters' wrath, appeared today before Judge William V. Roberts, acting chief justice of the criminal court, and asked for the "machine-gun" grand jury.

Judge Roberts acted immediately and ordered 100 veniremen summoned for duty Monday.

BRIDE BEATEN BY IRATE DAD, CLAIM

SACRAMENTO, April 30.—Suffering from a hemorrhage caused by a beating she said was administered by her father and brother because of her marriage a few days before, Mrs. Jeannette Hannon, 17, was critically ill at a Sacramento hospital today. Her husband, E. W. Hannon, 20, was at her bedside. Police are investigating the young bride's story that Harry Welch, the brother, held her while the father, Harry Welch sr., struck her on the head with his fists.

Three Boys Loot Store In Daylight

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—A youth, about 17, entered L. Sussman's grocery store, bought a cigar and a bottle of pop, and looted around the place for 15 minutes. Suddenly, at a signal, two other youths entered the store. All three drew revolvers. Hired the proprietor, and robbed his cash register of $1000 in cash. They fled in an automobile.

Jackal will attack him. Men whose works Poe had criticized unfavorably, circulated reports that he worked for him, he had conducted himself with industry and the department of a gentleman, and that this could also be said of his life before and after this time.

40 CONVICTS TRY TO KILL TRUSTIES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 30.—Details of a riot at Flat Top prison mine yesterday, when 40 infuriated convicts sought to kill two check runners by hurling sticks of dynamite at them, came to light today, as officials inquired into the disorders there.

"Whitey" Freeman and Tom Tucker, two white check runners, or "straw bosses," who had given testimony before the grand jury investigation of alleged cruelty to prisoners, in favor of prison officials, were the intended victims. Both Freeman and Tucker are trustees.

Attacked by 40 shouting men carrying pick handles and other weapons, the trustees fled in a small passage in the mines where they barricaded themselves.

When they refused to emerge, convicts hurled dynamite sticks, timed so they exploded the moment they struck.

The roar of the exploding dynamite brought guards from other sections of the mines, who succeeded in halting the disorders long enough to rescue Freeman and Tucker.

As soon as the two trustees had been sent to the surface, the riots underground broke out anew, this time the guards being the object of the attack.

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Illustration of a man in a suit and hat.

ARE BRIMS GOING UP AGAIN?

Stephen Decatur gave fiery fervor to an immortal remark about "Our country! May she always be right, but our country, right or wrong." This is admirable as patriotism but not as fashion. That is and always must be a composite of the ideas of the best-dressed men throughout the world. Every style that comes to us via London is not authentically right, but neither is it automatically wrong. The prejudice among some Americans in behalf of all English fashions is just as ill-advised as the prejudice among some Americans against all English fashions. True style is not national, but international, as has often been said here. We must borrow as well as lend. Any effect in dress which adds charm and character to clothes should be adopted regardless of whether it hails from London or Paris; Brussels or Buenos Aires; Montreal or Melbourne.

Said the Duke of Devonshire long ago: "When the London dandy takes snuff you can hear a sneeze around the world." This, of course, is a bit of exaggeration upon the part of an Englishman who pretended to regard the rest of the earth as merely a suburb of London. However, there is just a grain of truth in this grandiloquent observation. To grasp its purport you have only to recall the Homburg hat; the tennis blazer; the cricket flannels; the polo luster; the coaching coat; the sporting helmet; the Raglan; the Chesterfield and many other styles to which the English gentleman has given international vogue.

The slam-down or reverse-brim sporting hat, both felt and straw, has, in the opinion of many well-turned-out Englishmen, been overdone. It was first seen three years ago at English race courses and golf links. Thence it traveled to the French-Italian Riviera where it became "the rage." However, by wearing this effect off its course, that is, for town and business, the slam-down has received a knock in the head, so to speak.

The hat illustrated is the soft Panama or Leghorn straw worn with the brim turned up all around. It is the successor of the snap-brim. The ribbon, black or colored, is very narrow and loosely knotted as shown. Whether or not this style will supplant the too familiar slam-down straw for sports and the country is problematical. It is not a shape becoming to every man, nor so "carelessly careless" in its sportsmanlike look.

Golden Wedding Day Is Celebrated in Adams Home

SEVENTY years ago when young John L. Adams led his pretty bride to the altar in their home town of Dublin, New Hampshire, the little fellow who would be celebrating their golden wedding in that dream-land of California. But such was the case, for today at their pleasant home, 715 East First street, Mr. and Mrs. Adams are being extended loving congratulations by a host of friends assembled to help them celebrate the happy occasion.

Today at mid-day, a group of close relatives gathered at the family home for a chicken-pie dinner for which the "bride" is famous. At a table laden with gold of Ophir roses, the happy group enjoyed the dinner together with reminiscences of those early days when the parents came to California, now thirty-eight years ago.

Asked to enjoy the anniversary dinner were the sons, George of Whittier and Reo of El Modena with their wives and children, including George and Mervin Whittier and Eve of El Modena. Another grand-daughter present was Miss Flora Adams of Hermosa Beach. Nephews and other close relatives included Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Adams and daughter, Marian, South Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Laubach, San Gabriel; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Learned, Duren Learned and daughter Ethel, Burbank; Mr. and Mrs. Laxa Powers, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Wheeler and family and Mrs. Lavina Wheeler, Gridley.

In the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Adams maintained "open house" and greeted their interested friends who came bearing gifts and quantities of beautiful flowers until the golden flowers of the home blazed amidst pink and red roses, vivid gladioli and all the blossoms that California affords.

Guests were served ice cream and delectable home-made cake. Pleasant entertainment features included the reading of several poems written in honor of the day, and sent with other greetings to the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams spent ten years in the vicinity of Santa Ana, but left here for Pomona where they resided until two years ago, when they returned here where they plan to make their home henceforth. On Tuesday, Mrs. Adams was surprised at the Unitarian church when members of the Unitarian alliance conspired to celebrate her golden wedding.

DEMPSEY RULED ELIGIBLE FOR NEW YORK BOUT

NEW YORK, April 30.—The way was cleared for a heavyweight championship bout in this state today when the New York Boxing commission announced that Jack Dempsey, the title holder, was eligible to box here and that Promoter Tex Rickard was within his rights in attempting to sign Dempsey for a fight.

Contrary to general belief, the commission announced that Dempsey had been on the eligible list since July 17, 1925, when he came to the office of the state's boxing fathers and agreed to meet any rightful challenger.

When Rickard went to Texas recently to sign Dempsey for a championship match it was argued that he was running against the wishes of the commission. Today's action, however, was construed an encouragement of Rickard in the hope that a bout can be arranged here.

Paul Berlenbach, light heavyweight champion, must fulfill his agreement to fight June 10 for Tex Rickard, meeting Jack Delaney for a third time, if Delaney is ready to fight, and otherwise any opponent Rickard picks for him, the commission ruled.

workers should have low wages and employers small profits, and neither has anything to say as to the terms on which he will work or invest. And these are not the mere makeshifts of an emergency; they are permanent principles of right and truth, valid everywhere. Democracy and liberty are the chief evils of mankind, and it is a sacred duty to abolish them. The state does not exist for the citizens, but the citizens for the state, and they should be herded, by some one able to seize the power, for the aggrandizement of the state. They should like it. If any of them do not, make them pretend to do so, or stop their mouths. Free speech is an evil, not to be tolerated. Accept all these, as axiomatic truths, and you can understand the rest of Fascism.

EARS, TOES TO BE SUPPLIED BY HOSPITALS

OAKLAND, Calif., April 30.—"Standardized" hospitals, in which plastic surgery will be performed as a recognized function, are the object of a campaign by the American Medical association, according to Dr. Roy Stevenson, superintendent of the San Diego County General hospital, addressing the annual convention of the California Medical association today.

He characterized these as "human repair shops," where new parts, such as ears, fingers, toes and noses will be furnished those who desire such renovation.

Dr. Wilbur called upon the doctors to take an active part in politics, "however unsavory politics may be at times," to combat what he termed the widespread legislative opposition to progressive education.

Lawmakers, he asserted, concoct measures making disinfection of immigrants compulsory, while denying laws providing for treatment of hereditary diseases in children.

Education is neglected "because of the tradition spirit of much of our education," declared the noted educator, "it is often expected that the child in the school should know the details of the family life of King Henry VIII of England while it is not insisted upon that the child know biology."

Study of the health of the young "potential criminal" was suggested as an important initial step in the battle against crime.

Numerous papers, touching on subjects of vital interest to the world in general, were presented at today's session of the convocation of physicians and surgeons. Stomach ache, regarded since time immemorial as nothing more than a disagreeable feeling which one is bound to experience now and then, was designated as a sometimes fatal ailment by Dr. J. C. Robertson, Modesto physician. "It may mean one of a dozen abdominal infections, which must be stopped immediately," he declared.

Joint Denunciation Dr. Saxton T. Pope, surgeon, recently returned from Africa, and Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford university, delivered a joint denunciation against non-medical doctors.

They were characterized as men who "meet disease and disaster with mumbled jargon and baby blue eyed smiles, believing that 'God is Love,' whatever that may mean." A positive cure for cancer may be expected within a few years, possibly within a few months, according to Dr. C. A. Dukes, Berkeley.

Obituary

Eleanor Ann Patterson, eldest child of John G. Patterson and Eleanor Quigley Patterson, was born in Tiffin, O., July 12, 1856, and removed early to Charles City, Ia., where she lived until her marriage to Ray Billingsly, a college mate, of Iowa State university, which she entered in 1873 and studied three years. She taught both in grammar and high schools in Iowa until her marriage, February 22, 1882, settling in Vinton, Ia. With their two children, Patterson and Helen, they came to their Villa Park home in July, 1886. They were members of the Presbyterian church in Vinton, then the Orange Presbyterian church and in 1888 were among the 17 founders of the Villa Park church. She was the devoted mother of six children. The four surviving are William Patterson Billingsly, Los Angeles; Helen May Billingsly, Los Angeles; Harlowe Ray Billingsly, Santa Ana, and Hester Sophia Searse, Glendale. Dr. Carl Val Billingsly and Mynard John Billingsly have passed on.

Judge John E. Patterson, of Missoula, Mont., and William R. Patterson, of Washington, D. C., are her brothers, and Mrs. Minnie V. Harwood, of Oakland, a sister. Eleanor Patterson Billingsly died in the Osteopathic Sanitarium hospital, Los Angeles, April 26, 1926.

The funeral services for Mrs. Billingsly were held in the Smith and Tutthill parlors. She was couched among thousands of choicest flowers and attended by many from the surrounding homes. The Rev. Lucy Woodford and the Rev. George Morrison officiated, the one, a former pastor and close friend of all the intervening years and the latter a constant visitor as pastor during the last few years.

The Rev. Morrison spoke of the changeless father-love of God in times of adversity. The Rev. Woodford added a brief eulogy on the courageous character Mrs. Billingsly proved to be during the months of ceaseless suffering, never dull nor complaining, but keeping a vivid interest in classical and artistic studies, especially American history and research.

She was thoroughly alive to local affairs and all the personal problems of her children. Her love of the beautiful and her appreciation of the often hidden soul-beauty revealed to her in life time friendships made her a wonderful hostess and a delightful companion in social life and church work.

Think of her facing on as dear In the love of There as she was of here, Mild and gentle as she was brave well.

When the strongest love of her life she gave. Think of her still as the same, I say, She is not dead, she is just away." The obsequies began and closed with the singing of the hymns, "One Sweetly Solemn Thought" and "Lead Kindly Light," by Miss Florence Bathgate, Mrs. Charles Thomson, Mrs. Hugh Thomson and Mrs. Marjorie Lutkin, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Caldwell.

Buying of automobiles on the installment plan has been introduced into the Netherlands East Indies.

Birthday Surprise Is Carried Out Successfully

VERY few people who are complimented by surprise birthday parties, have the unique distinction of having their birthday cake baked by a friend nearing her ninetieth milestone, but such was the pleasant experience of Mrs. Cecyl Drake yesterday evening when her mother, Mrs. Jane Peterson, planned a friendly little surprise at their Riverline avenue home and Mrs. Sarah L. Randall, almost ninety years old, baked the special cake and covered it with twinkling pink candles.

Mrs. Drake left for a short drive with her friend, Miss Naomi Keller, in the early evening, assuring her mother that she would be home shortly after 7 o'clock, a fact which Mrs. Peterson already knew since she and Miss Keller had arranged the drive together. In the meantime a little group of nearby neighbors arrived to await the return of the birthday honoree, who arrived at the appointed hour to be completely surprised, all according to schedule.

A happy evening followed, marked by the unexpected shower of dainty gifts and later the serving of refreshments. Miss Keller and Miss Eleanor Randall, the latter a favorite young cousin of Mrs. Drake's arranged the individual trays very daintily with lace doilies, pink baskets filled with salted nuts, and dainty French bouquets fashioned by the clever hands of Miss Keller.

When the trays with their delectable refreshments of cake, neapolitan ice cream and coffee were passed, the birthday cake itself was brought in on a rose-decked tray, and presented to Mrs. Drake for her to blow the candles out, to the accompaniment of good wishes on the part of her friends.

Those enjoying the happy evening with Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. Drake, were "Grandma" Randall, (as she is affectionately known to her friends), Miss Helen Randall, Miss Eleanor Randall, Miss Naomi Keller, Miss Cora Craig, Mrs. Bishop, Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, Mrs. Harrison Wilcox and Mrs. H. E. Wheeler.

Santa Ana Woman's club will meet Tuesday afternoon, May 4, 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Asa Vandermast, 425 South Birch street. Many Guests Enjoy Bridge Luncheon At Country Club

ONE of the most delightful of the spring parties given at the Santa Ana Country club was the bridge luncheon yesterday, when Mrs. J. E. Liebig and her niece, Mrs. Don L. Andrews, were hosts to a large number of their friends, some of them being from out-of-town.

Mrs. Liebig and Mrs. Andrews selected a lovely combination of blossoms, arranging gladioli, iris, mariposa lilies and gypsophila in brass opium bowls for effective table decorations with harmonizing place cards. Six tables were utilized for the service of the delectable menu, ten guests being seated at each one.

Following luncheon, the guests took places about thirteen card tables and enjoyed a period of bridge. Mrs. C. R. Lane and Miss Marjorie Ellis were the winners of the pretty gifts awarded by the hostesses for first and second scores.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Adrian McCain and Mrs. C. F. Richards of Long Beach and Mrs. Jennie Hunter of Los Angeles.

Missionary Societies Hold District Meet

The thirty-fourth annual convention of the Woman's Home Missionary societies of the Methodist Episcopal church, San Diego district, will be held at the First Methodist church, South Orange street, Orange, on Tuesday, May 4, at 9:30 a. m.

A prize of $5 will be presented to the auxiliary having the largest percentage of its members on time. There will be a program of very deep interest and luncheon will be served at 12:30 p. m. by the Ladies' Aid society of the church.

Long Beach Friends Plan Birthday Event

Motoring over from Long Beach, Mrs. Ralph Hunter, formerly of Lorain, Ohio, and a group of friends, spent the day very pleasantly with Mrs. Harrison Wilcox, Lorain house-guest of Mrs. Eleanor Elliott, 321 Riverline avenue.

In the party were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. Edward Curtis, Mrs. A. H. Pohley and Mrs. Hunter. They made the visit a surprise luncheon affair, each adding delectable dishes to the menu, which included a rose-and-candle-decked birthday cake complimenting the birthday of Mrs. Wilcox.

Parlor, No. 235, Native Daughters of the Golden West, announces that the merchants of the city have donated some handsome and valuable prizes for the party, seven in all. A large company is expected to enjoy the afternoon, and after the games, refreshments will be served.

The section of St. Joseph's Altar society, captained by Mrs. L. M. Banks and Mrs. J. P. Murphy, invite their friends to a card party to be held in Knights of Columbus hall on Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. Prizes will be awarded to the lucky winners and refreshments served.

Military leaders of China are building roads with forced soldier labor in order to make profits from the motor passenger and freight business.

An all-steel Diesel-driven railway car, with a capacity of eighty-eight passengers, has been put in operation by the city of Stuttgart, Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Collier Entertain Friends At Country Club

ONE more beautiful setting could be devised for a party than that achieved by Mrs. E. B. Collier last night when she and Mr. Collier were hosts at Santa Ana Country club for dinner followed by an evening of bridge.

For a French effect was attained by the use of pink Cecil Brunner buds and blue forget-me-nots which filled low baskets arranged the length of one long table where guests were seated. Places were found by cards bearing the same artistic combination of flowers. The table was arranged in the sun-room adjoining the main dining-room and as background for the diners, were tall baskets of garden flowers in pastel tints, harmonizing with the French motif of the table decorations.

Following the interval of dinner, hosts and guests sought the upstairs card-room where small tables were in readiness for bridge. There, a more vivid color note was sounded in the tall baskets of brilliant blossoms and in the colorful tally cards distributed. At the close of the evening, high scores held by Mrs. Chunning and Mr. Palmer and low scores held by Mrs. K. E. Watson and Charles Borchard, won each of the quartette, a pretty gift.

Enjoying the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Collier were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Borchard and Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Le Gaye of this city, Mrs. Chunning, Mr. and Mrs. K. E. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spennetta, Dr. and Mrs. V. A. Rossiter, Mr. and Mrs. B. Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Justus Craemer and Mr. Palmer, Orange.

May Day Fete Will Be On Burlew Lawn

The May festival to be given tomorrow afternoon by the Girl Reserves on the beautiful lawn at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Burlew, 1015 North Broadway, promises a period of delight. The at fresco affair has been planned in order to raise funds to send delegates to the summer camp of the Reserve at Asilomar.

The program will be full of interest and will begin at 2:30 p. m. with numbers by the kindergarten band under the direction of Miss Maurie Hamil. The Spurgeon primary department little ones will give a Maypole dance, directed by Miss Clara Blesener, and a peasant dance will be given by girls from the Tuesday Y. W. C. A. gymnasium classes of which Mrs. R. R. Russick is director.

The Girls' Glee club of the Frances Willard school, and piano and violin numbers by Misses Esther Walton and Georgia Bell Walton will add to the pleasure of the afternoon.

In the midst of the gay decorations of the lawn will be placed large beach umbrellas for the comfort of the guests and here and there will be booths, from which will be dispensed home-made candies, cookies, cakes, and a fish pond will also be an attraction. Pretty maidens will sell May bouquets and a fortune teller will do her share for the pleasure of the large company expected to be present.

The inter-club council of the Girl Reserve will be in charge and will include the following: Jean Nicholson, Veda Powers, Marie Morgan, Margaret Gaebe, Edith McFadden and Marcia Huber and the special committee in charge of the program is Miss Kate Owens, while Miss Lucille Goodrich looks after the booths, and baskets and Edith Mae Breckenridge of the publicity.

Pretty Gift Shower Is Planned for Bride-elect

THE guests devoted the first part of the evening to hemming tea-towels, hand-towels and kitchen holders which were presented to Miss Irvine. A lively wedding game in which answers were the names of trees, followed, and the guests spent the remainder of the evening writing tested recipes for the bride-to-be.

The Roepke home at 717 South Van Ness avenue, was a veritable bower of bloom, with quantities of pink and white roses, Cecil Brunner buds, gladioli, cornflowers, larkspur and other spring flowers making it truly a May party as it was planned. Pink, yellow and lavender were the dominant colors and were repeated in all decorative appointments including the refreshment hour when the menu of orange ice, angel food cake, salted nuts and orangeade, suggested the same tints.

Miss Irvine has not yet announced the date of her wedding but friends of the young people anticipate it as an event of late June. Those who were asked to enjoy the happy evening with the bride-elect and the hostesses, Miss Irvine, Mrs. Roepke and Miss Bush were Mesdames Joseph B. Irvine, Pauline Falme, Paul Irvine, W. J. Wood, Edward Franzen, Josephine Edwards, Beattie Russell, W. A. Irvine, Frances Weinrich, W. J. Stauffer, Carl Wiesseman, Ethel James, and the Misses Vivian Smith, Frances Stockebrand, Cleo Bowers, Mary Lamb, Grace Dennison, Mamie Dennison, Edna Ingham, Eleanor Sturgeon, May Beamer, Ethel Coffman, Esther Coffman, Mary Coffman, Audrey Fey, Katherine Kuehne, Bertha Kuehne, Esther Van Hynning, Irene Blower, Lydia Fisher and Mary Oliver.

A Child's Laxative which Mothers Can Rely On

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he constantly advised mothers to give only a harmless laxative which would help to establish natural bowel "regularity."

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin mothers have a regulating laxative which they can depend upon whenever a child is constipated, bilious, feverish or sick from a cold, indigestion or sour stomach. All children love its pleasant taste. Buy a large 50-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself how perfectly it cleanses and regulates the bowels of infants and children.

YOUTHFUL BREA PLANE BUILDER STILL MISSING

Today marked the sixth day since the disappearance of Fred Taheld, of Brea, who designed the tiny monoplane in which Ray Freeman, of Long Beach, met his death last Saturday at the Brea air meet. William Tremaine, associated with Taheld in the construction of the machine, said that the search for him would not be allowed to lapse.

Taheld is 26 years old, of light complexion, wears his hair pompadour style, weighs about 145 pounds, is five feet, six inches tall and of husky build.

The designer never gives a smile to strangers, according to Tremaine. He may be conversing with several persons when he will suddenly rush off to figure out some mathematical problem in connection with the designing of airplanes. He reads nothing but the comic sheets and airplane magazines.

Tremaine requested that any information concerning Taheld be telephoned or telegraphed to him at once in Brea.

STILL MISSING

Fred Taheld, youthful airplane designer, being sought throughout Southern California following the crashing of the "Brea Humming Bird," a tiny monoplane which he designed, resulting in the death of Pilot Ray Freeman at the Brea air meet last Saturday. Taheld is not wanted on any criminal charge.

OIL PROMOTER TO SERVE TWO YEARS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Gordon Campbell, prominent oil man, must spend two years in Leavenworth prison and pay a fine of $1000 for using the mails to defraud, it was decided today by the U. S. circuit court of appeals. Test Flight Made By Los Angeles

LAKEHURST, N. J., April 30.—The naval dirigible Los Angeles cast off from its mooring mast about 10:30 a. m., today, for a test flight, which probably will continue until sunset. The dirigible, according to Capt. George W. Steele Jr., its commander, probably will remain close to the air station. During the flight, photographs for scientific purposes will be taken.

FORMER SANTA ANAN DIES IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Fred Stanley, 45 years old, a former resident of Santa Ana, was killed in an automobile accident in Fresno this morning, according to telegraphic news received here this morning by his father, C. H. Stanley, 1135 West First street, and his father-in-law, C. C. Collins, Santa Ana commission merchant.

Particulars of the accident were not revealed in the telegram. W. A. Collins, brother-in-law, and Mrs. Stanley, mother of the dead man, left by auto for Fresno immediately following receipt of news of the death. The body will be brought here for interment.

Mr. Stanley has been residing in Fresno for the last five years, being manager for the Stanley Construction company, which manufactures concrete irrigation pipe. The dead man was the owner of the business property at the southeast corner of Third and Sycamore streets, known as the Stanley building.

Mr. Stanley was a graduate of the Santa Ana high school, graduating with the class of 1901, and was well known to many residents of this city. Mrs. Stanley was Miss Ina Collins.

The roads announcing the new speed rate are the Santa Fe, Chicago and Northwestern-Union Pacific and the Rock Island-Southern Pacific.

THIS WOMAN'S BATTLE

Wins Against Ill Health

"At times I was hardly able to do my housework," writes Mrs. Margaret Wallace, of 1547 Safford Ave., Columbus, Ohio.

How many women have found themselves in this same condition! How many women have fought bravely on, day after day, cooking, washing, ironing, doing the dishes, and keeping the house clean when they were in a weakened condition and had not sufficient strength to perform these duties. A friend advised her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she gave it a fair trial. "I just can't give enough thanks to it," she writes. "Now I can eat anything at all and I am feeling better than I have for years. I shall never be without your medicine again."

A woman who is fighting for her health and her family's happiness is a valiant soldier. She wages her battle in her own kitchen. She has no thrilling bugles to cheer her on, no waving banners.

Many other women tell us as Mrs. Wallace did that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored their health.

STATES FIGHT OVER COLUMBIA RIVER ISLAND

By C. B. DODDS
Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 30.—Washington and Oregon are engaged in a bitter contest over Sand Island, a brief of sand waste, in the mouth of the Columbia river. The governors of both states are taking an active interest in the battle, and the congressional delegations are lined up on either side of the controversy.

An island known as Sand Island originally belonged to Oregon, but in 1864, in a moment of generosity, the state of Oregon ceded certain lands, including Sand Island, to the U. S. government. Oregon now wants this island back and Senator Stanfield introduced the necessary bill, which has been favorably reported by the public lands committee.

The Stanfield bill and the favorable action by the committee have aroused Gov. Roland H. Hartley, of Washington, to a long and vigorous protest. The governor says that the Sand Island, so generously given to the federal government in 1864, no longer exists, "having entirely disappeared through the processes of accretion, and shifted to the north, so that what is now Sand Island, or known as such, is wholly within the territorial limits of the state of Washington."

Valuable Fishing Grounds
Uninitiated laymen may wonder why it is that governors, senators and congressmen are battling so vigorously over a strip of waste sand, which could produce nothing agriculturally and which apparently is worthless. The answer is that some of the most lucrative fishing rights in the west are involved.

Governor Hartley explains this in his letter to the Washington state delegation, in which he says:

"I do not believe that the state of Oregon would lend itself to an attempt to mulct the state of Washington out of any part of its domain, but I do believe that the state is unwittingly lending its name to the efforts of certain private individuals to acquire color of title to certain valuable fishing privileges adjacent to the present Sand Island, and which are rightfully property of the state of Washington. The U. S. government has been maintaining for a long time that the present Sand Island is a U. S. military reserve, as ceded by Oregon, and the war department, along about 1905, caused the southern shore of Sand Island to be divided into five seining sites, so-called, each extending about 3500 feet along the shore and designated as Sand Island seining sites, Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, respectively. The war department then proceeded to lease these sites for drag-seining operations to the highest bidder for a term of three years.

Packers Lease Site
"The Columbia River Packers' association leased the most valuable sites for a long period of years, being the highest bidder. The U. S. government released the sites in 1925 for a term of three years to the Barbey Packing company, whose bid of approximately $45,000 a year was the highest of those submitted. Shortly after this lease was executed, the Columbia River Packers' association apparently conceived the idea that the island, having been ceded to the United States for military purposes, and not for fishing purposes, and it never having been used for military purposes, the cession was defeated and title to the island never vested in the United States. With the idea of adjudicating the question of title, it is reported that the packers' association was prepared to finance a lawsuit in the federal court at Portland and an action was actually brought in the name of the state of Oregon to quiet title to the island. Apparently the suit was not prosecuted, but in lieu thereof, senate bill No. 8501 was introduced by Senator Stanfield proposing to reconvey the island in question to the state of Oregon.

600 Tons of Fish Yearly
"During recent years, the total catch of fish on these five sites has averaged about 60 tons per year. These sites, are, in fact, among the most lucrative in the entire northwest, and I do not believe that the state of Washington should stand idly by and permit them to be conveyed to the state of Oregon when that state is not rightfully entitled to them. I believe that this matter should be brought immediately to the attention of the senate committee on public lands and surveys, in order that the text of the bill be strictly confined to the language of the original grant made by the state of Oregon in 1864."

Having had occasion to go over the transcript of the record in a number of army court martial cases tried overseas during the war, Congressman Carter, of Oakland, is seriously considering the introduction of a resolution calling for a review by the war department of all cases of this class. As a lawyer and former municipal official, Carter believes an injustice was done the defendant in each one of the several cases he has investigated, and he believes there must be many more of this type still in the war department archives.

Carter referred particularly to the case of George Barrett, convicted of speaking uncivilly to an officer. Barrett, an Oakland man, was sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment for this offense, but on review the sentence was reduced to one year, but with the "dishonorable discharge" left standing as the military court fixed it. Barrett is afflicted with tuberculosis and is now a charge on the county of Alameda, his dishonorable discharge barring him from any of the veterans' bureau hospitals or for any relief in the way of compensation from the veterans' bureau. The record shows that Barrett was convicted on the testimony of a captain only, although a lieutenant and four privates flatly contradicted him. Inasmuch as the captain was the offended party and testified in a prejudiced manner, Carter believes the court-martial should have given more credence to the testimony of the five witnesses of the defense.

Barrett's was one of the cases tried in Germany during the days immediately following the signing of the armistice. It is not believed that his case would ever have been brought to trial in the present day army.

With the full approval of the postmaster general, the house claims committee reported favorably on the Lea bill, releasing former Postmaster C. O. Dunbar, of Santa Rosa, of any liability as a result of the loss of $2000 in post office funds due to the failure of the First National bank, of Santa Rosa.

Postmaster General New said the bank was a government depository recognized by the treasury and that the postmaster was fully justified in making deposits.

Until recently, department heads have been in the custom of excusing the liability of field representatives when government money was lost as in the Santa Rosa case, but Comptroller General McCarl has held that the government must look to the agent for reimbursement, no matter whether he was personally responsible or not.

Wales Fails to Sound His R's

LONDON, April 30.—The Prince of Wales has a pronounced cockney accent.

Such is the pronouncement of St. John Ervine, noted playwright and critic, whose own accent is Irish. Ervine has been campaigning for intelligible pronunciation of English, and his criticism of the speech of the Prince of Wales has shocked thousands of loyal English people. "The prince does not sound his r's," is Ervine's complaint. "One of his brothers recently referred to the Duke of York as the dook of York."

Movie Chatterbox

The current film vogue of big marine specials, to be climaxed by Paramount's epic "Old Ironsides," is providing a final and spectacular waterside rendezvous for the scattered ranks of hard-bitten old Yankee sailing ship tars.

From obscure mariners' retreats and from enforced landlubberly occupation, the deep water veterans of wind craft are gathering in Hollywood and at Catalina Island where "Old Ironsides" is being filmed.

Old they are, of course, and perhaps a bit rheumatic, since steam sent most of them into the discard years ago. But pathetically eager to officiate once more on tilted decks under drawing canvas—swaggering relics of phantom yesteryears on the salty main, breaking out rusted sea chests and whetting up on sailor talk.

52 Sailing Vessels
Fifty-two sailing vessels, rummaged from everywhere along the American coast, are being prepared for the filming of the historic battle between the pirates of Tripoli and the famous frigate "Constitution" (Old Ironsides). Each ship requires a crew of 23 familiar with the rigging of Yankee clippers.

Hence the opportunity for many ancient mariners to live again for a few days of vanished glory. Scores were already on hand, having worked in Fairbanks' "Black Pirate" and Warner Brothers' "The Sea Beast," when the Paramount call went out. Many came from west coast ports by workaway, and some by stowaways.

One old tar, pushing his way to the casting window between a beauty contest winner and a thin-faced extra, piped his plea for a part wistfully: "It ain't the money so much. All I want is to lay afloat once more on a square-rigger with the yards backed and the wind a-strummin' in the scrouds. Just once more before I sign my final papers." He landed.

Another: "Too old—me? Hell's bells, I'm stronger now than these young loafers who don't know a bumpkin from a bobstay!" He, too, will be in the picture.

One Empty Sleeve
A third, vainly trying to conceal an empty sleeve, relic of a nasty voyage off Cape Hatteras: "Aye, she's empty this sleeve; but my other arm is strong enough for both." To which the representative of James Cruze, director, replied, "Okay—you're hired."

Typical, these of scores, going down to sea in ships for the last time perhaps—putting the brine-soaked man power of a romantic afloat into "Old Ironsides" for authentic atmosphere.

A few, having indicated a capacity for pungent character acting with Wallace Beery, George E. Stone and other principals in the picture, may find a permanent berth in the movies. Most of them will step down off the decks with a renewed ache for the old, brave days when the clipper man was the bully boy of the seven seas.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—An increased demand for American apples in Paris is reported by the department of agriculture. Within the last month apples from the United States have been for the first time offered in Paris in sound condition and at reasonable prices.

Half of Students Support Selves

MOSCOW, Ida., April 30.—More than 50 per cent of University of Idaho students are partially or completely self-supporting, according to results of a survey just completed. Returns from the survey, conducted by questionnaire, show that 550 students are entirely self-supporting, while 311 earn part of their expenses. The questionnaire was answered by 1645 students.

French Obligated To Use Rye Flour

PARIS, April 30.—France is reverting to war-time measures. It has been decreed that bread flour hereafter must contain 8 per cent rye. The object of the decree is to try and steady the constantly mounting price of bread and to tide over the period until the next harvest with the flour available without having to import foreign wheat.

Police News

F. Elster, speeding, $15; C. H. Wardell, drunk, $25; J. B. Franklin, speeding, $15; C. Placentia, parking in driveway, $2.

The case of Chesler P. Sysart, charged with reckless driving, was transferred to juvenile court, when his case was called yesterday in Judge Talbot's police court.

L. A. ELECTORS CAST VOTES ON 10 QUESTIONS

LOS ANGELES, April 30.—The voting population of Los Angeles flocked to the polls today to vote on 10 questions, some of which are of vital interest to Southern California.

Of primary importance, according to the campaign waged, is the question of a union station. Another is the location at the Plaza site of the proposed union station. Keen political observers concede the defeat of both measures, in view of the opposition of the railroad affected by the proposed consolidation of terminal facilities. Traffic congestion is the club wielded by the opponents of the measures.

Next in importance to the Southland is proposition No. 6, on whether Los Angeles shall agree "in principle" to consolidation with Long Beach in the "Port of Los Angeles," providing one port district under joint control. The government has agreed to contribute $7,000,000 toward construction of a huge breakwater, providing this consolidation is effected. It will very likely receive a favorable vote.

Other propositions on the ballot are strictly local questions, Sunday dancing at Venice, recently annexed to Los Angeles; increased pay for firemen and policemen; zoning certain sections of Wilshire boulevard for business; turning Dead Man's island over to the federal government; bond issue of $1,900,000 for bridges and viaducts; proposal for a 25-story spire for the new city hall, now under construction.

PICTURE WEEK IS ANNOUNCED HERE

"Take a Picture Week" starts Sunday and continues for one week. It was announced today by Ivis Stein, authorized Santa Ana kodak dealer.

The dealer said that the idea behind the movement is to remind persons to get out their kodaks and take them with them on their outings.

"With the arrival of warmer weather, the thoughts of persons are turning toward week-end and vacation trips and each week sees an ever increasing amount of automobile traffic on the highways headed toward the popular vacation resorts and beaches," Stein said. "There are many picture opportunities in Orange county for the kodak fan, who likes to preserve picture memories."

"Take a Picture Week" has been increasing in popularity year by year and interest in better pictures is increasing."

Court Notes

Briefs Are Ordered

The case of Roy F. Daniels against Knute B. Norswing, involving a claim for $75,000 paid upon 35 acres of oil land, sold by Norswing to Daniels and his associates, was ordered submitted on briefs by Superior Judge C. E. Beaumont yesterday. The case hinges upon alleged faults in the survey of the land, which the plaintiffs claim void the deeds and maps of the property.

Tideland Case Scheduled

The "friendly" action filed by the county of Orange against the Irvine company, to obtain legal confirmation of a settlement of tidelands titles at Newport harbor, has been set for trial tomorrow at 9:30 a. m., before Superior Judge E. J. Marks. The county and the Irvine company already have agreed that the tideland titles shall be settled on a basis of fixing the high tide line at four feet, six inches. The county's suit asks the court to grant decrees of title on that basis.

To Probate Will

John H. Christwell, of Corona, today had filed a petition in superior court to probate the will of his mother Mrs. Alice E. Brauen Rose, who died in Orange April 23. Mrs. Rose left her entire estate, valued at $45,000, to her son. Her will contained a bequest of $5 to her husband, George Rose, of Orange. Real estate in Orange, mortgages and cash make up the estate.

$25,000 Damages Asked by Parents Of Crash Victim

Mr. and Mrs. Otis E. Richards, of Santa Ana, were plaintiffs today in a suit filed against the Pacific Electric Railway company, asking $25,000 damages for the death of their son, Glenn, 19, who was killed in a wreck at the West Seventeenth street crossing of the Pacific Electric railway, May 8, 1925. The plaintiffs also ask $558.50 to cover expenses of their son's funeral and $525 for destruction of the Richards automobile, which Glenn was driving, in company with five other young people. Three were killed.

SANTA ANA MEN DEFENDANTS IN LIBEL ACTION

The Santa Ana Business Men's association, Merchants and Manufacturers' association, Orange County Credit association, E. Earl Ruddy, J. D. Garfield, A. H. Hallford, T. J. Atchley and Paul Nordstrom were made defendants in an $80,000 libel suit, filed late yesterday in superior court by George F. Townsend, manager of the California Fraud Prevention company, a California corporation.

The suit is based on publication of an alleged libelous article in the bulletin issued by the Business Men's association, which appeared March 27. The bulletin concerned Townsend and was as follows: "High pressure boys—George F. Townsend, of the California Fraud Prevention bureau, against which we warned a short time ago, was since arrested in San Bernardino on instructions of Corporation Commissioner Daugherty."

Townsend alleges that the statements in the bulletin are not true and that its circulation among the membership of the various defendant organizations and elsewhere damaged him. He specifically cites that William Prentiss Jr., had agreed to make a loan of $1000 to Townsend, but that, upon reading the article about him, refused to make the loan.

Judgment for $5000 as special damages on account of the loan incident, $50,000 damages for injury to Townsend's reputation and $25,000 as exemplary damages is demanded in the suit. Attorneys Linnell and Linnell, Long Beach, and L. F. Coburn, of Orange, represent Townsend.

PAINT FIRM HEAD VISITS SANTA ANA

Edward J. Cornish, president of the National Lead company and one of the most prominent men in New York city, was a visitor in Santa Ana yesterday. In company with other officials of the company, he paid Santa Ana a business visit and while here looked up his old political mate and chum, George F. Munro, 1222 Bush street. Cornish and Munro were close friends years ago in Omaha. At that time, Cornish was assistant city attorney and Munro a member of the Omaha city council and afterward chairman of the board of public works. It was the first time the two men had seen each other in 17 years. Those accompanying Cornish were James B. Kleiser, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific coast branch of the National Lead company; H. B. Carter, legal advisor to Cornish; Vance C. Buckner, southern division manager for the company, and H. C. Irwin, southern division manager of the Bass-Hueter Paint company, a subsidiary of the National Lead company. The party was here inspecting the Santa Ana branch of the Bass-Hueter company.

MUSIC STUDENTS IN COUNTY MEET

Santa Ana high school music students in the glee clubs, orchestra and band are competing this afternoon in the annual Orange County Music contest, in the Brea grammar school auditorium. Entries from all of the eight county schools were expected to try for the honors. Winning the contest is a signal achievement for any of the schools. For several years, Santa Ana has won awards in the contest.

Miss Louise Mansfield, head of the music department in the high school here, has been directing the boys' and girls' glee clubs. S. J. Mustol is the band and orchestra leader. The instructors accompanied the students to Brea for the contest.

S. A. ORATOR WILL SPEAK IN REDLANDS

If Riniker wins first place he will be entitled to compete in the regional contests, ending in the grand finals in Los Angeles, where the winner among the seven national representatives will be decided. A $2000 reward is to be given the champion college orator.

URGES SPEED IN PAVING OF SOUTH MAIN STREET

Editor Register:—Some time ago you published an editorial on South Main street paving which was very much to the point.

All business men and most of the property owners along this street know the paving has to be done on account of the condition of the present paving. No doubt a great many of the property owners will have to make a real sacrifice to meet the payments but they will have ten years in which to do so; the property values will be increased enough or more to make up for the outlay.

The business man must meet his loss at once and will be compelled to rebuild his following to a large extent after the work is completed.

The vital thing which affects the South Main street business man is the length of time that will be consumed in doing this work. Entirely too much time is used in our paving in this city and the streets in general are tied up too long, so that business suffers almost to the same extent, as far as money values are concerned, as the property owner and he has no ten years to meet the payment.

The reason for this letter is to suggest that every effort be made to have the work done as quickly as possible, making the plea now rather than make a lot of noise after the start is made.

Most of the large cities now require a bond of the contractor with some well-equipped and responsible contractor is given the work.

When the old paving is being torn up and at least a block is cleaned there is no reason why all the other work could not be started at once, such as light wiring, new water mains, new gas pipe and any other improvements that must be done before the paving is laid.

As soon as other improvements are out of the way, the paving should be started and if each department or contractor is a live wire they can keep out of each others way and should be compelled to do so.

It is almost a crime the length of time some streets are kept closed and there is no real excuse for it.

Inspection should be so rigid from day to day there would be no danger of its not being accepted the day the work is uncovered. Just citing the length of time First street has been tied and will be tied up is evidence of how slow the work can be done. Survey the job intelligently and co-ordinate the work and there will not be any excuse for the delays we are now threatened with. Trusting you will use the best efforts of your paper in this matter.

The Colorado River Project

By J. P. Baumgartner
FOURTH ARTICLE

IN talking and writing about the Colorado river project, Boulder canyon and Black canyon are often used synonymously or alternatively. And while these two canyons are 20 miles apart, for all practical purposes they are the same. A dam in either of these canyons would fill the same basin (above Boulder canyon) and accomplish practically the same results in flood control conservation of water and development of power. As I understand it, the Swing-Johnson bill leaves it optional with the government engineers as to the exact site of the dam.

BOULDER canyon is selected by name in the bill for the reason that after thorough investigation that site was recommended by the government engineers.

This recommendation has been concurred in by many other eminent engineers, including Secretary Herbert Hoover, F. E. Weymouth, chief engineer of the reclamation service, and General George Goethals, builder of the Panama canal.

The bill authorizes the secretary of the Interior to construct an adequate dam and incidental works "at or near Boulder canyon," also the so-called "All-American Canal" (of which I shall write more specifically later on), and other canals for the delivery of water from the Colorado river to lands in Arizona, California and Nevada.

It requires the secretary of the Interior to allocate among the interested states and communities, upon an equitable basis, the right to use the water from the dam for generating power, giving preference to the application of any political subdivision or district for the right to itself make use of the power allocated to it as against any private application for power for serving such community.

THE markets for power are numerous and various, consisting in general of the mining interests in Arizona and Nevada, the pumping requirements in the Colorado river valley, and the needs of the municipalities of Arizona and Southern California, (especially Los Angeles) for mu-

Doctor Finally Rides Ambulance

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 30.—Dr. M. E. McGuire, Lexington, Ky., physician, has ordered many persons to take a lift in an ambulance, but it was not until he came here that he took his first ride in one of the same vehicles.

The physician had been visiting in Florida and was enroute to Kentucky when he experienced such pain that the conductor on the train wired here for an ambulance to be at the station and the physician was duly carried to the hospital.

However, when he arrived at the hospital he said he felt much better and had the ambulance convey him to a hotel.

CROWNING OF MAY QUEEN TO BE BIG FEATURE OF COUNTY EMPLOYEES' MAY DAY FROLIC

County officials and employees today were at the eve of their annual heira to the county park, where tomorrow's May Day frolic will attract about 500 of them and their friends.

With all past attendance records in prospect of being fractured, the park tomorrow will be a scene of unusual hilarity. Various committees of the Orange County Officers and Employees' association have been busy for weeks, planning the frolic, and the fruits of their efforts now are ready to harvest. Some time during the afternoon, a member of the association will be crowned May Queen. A hectic contest for votes has been carried on

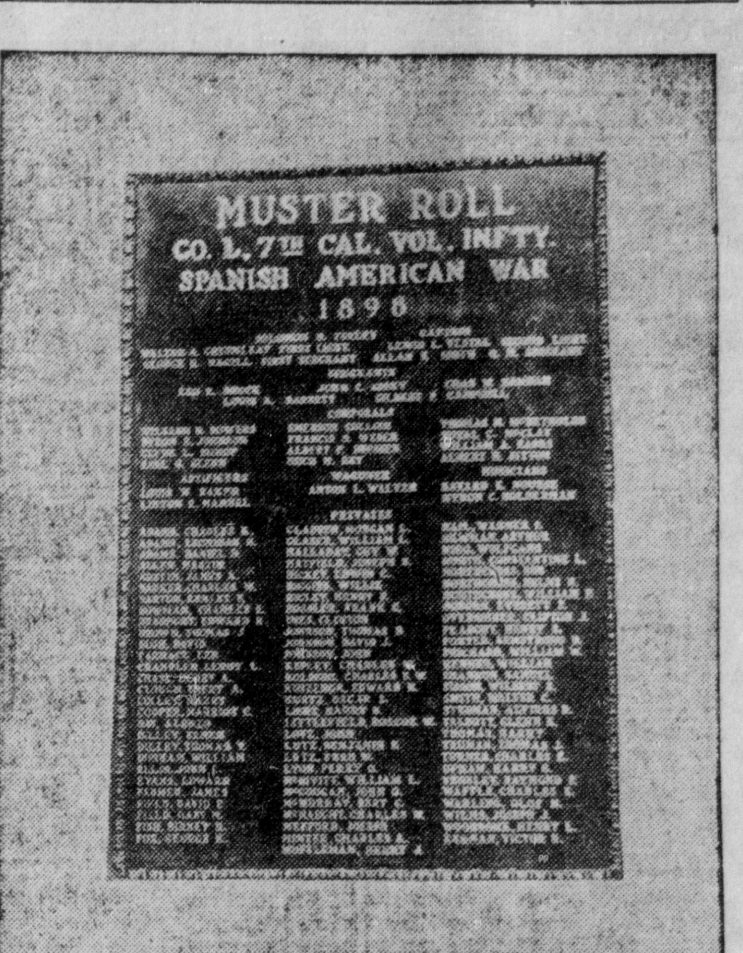

Mardi Gras To Be Held L. A. Body

The plan of the junior division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce to hold a grotesque parade and mardi gras has been appropriated by the junior chamber of commerce of Los Angeles, with the probable result that the Santa Ana organization will be forced to give up all hope of arranging for such an affair, officers of the junior division declared today.

Their attention was called to an item in the prospectus of the Los Angeles junior chamber, in which the grotesque parade was listed as a "coming event." The Santa Ana junior chamber first entertained the idea early last fall and planned to arrange the parade for the spring of 1926. At the earnest solicitation of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion, the plans were abandoned for the time at least so as not to conflict with the Orange county Armistice day parade, which is to be held in Santa Ana this year.

Inasmuch as the Los Angeles junior chamber plans to hold its parade and mardi gras in Hollywood and will be in a superior position as regards the success of the event, it was considered today that the Santa Ana grotesque parade boosters would have to abandon their plan for such an attraction and think up something else to advertise Santa Ana to the world.

VETERANS OF 1898 WILL HAVE NAMES ON TABLETS

Bronze plate, containing names of Santa Ana and Orange county men, who were mustered into Company L, Seventh California Volunteer Regiment of Infantry, in 1898, which will be erected soon, with appropriate ceremonies, in Orange County park.

Piece of Bronze Taken from Battleship Will Bear Names of Dead

A large bronze plate, containing the names of Santa Ana and Orange county men who were mustered into Company L, Seventh California Volunteer Regiment of Infantry, in 1898, will be erected with appropriate ceremonies in Orange County park within the near future.

The plate has arrived and is on display in the office of Gilbert P. Campbell, near the city hall.

The annual reunion of the company is to be held Sunday, May 8, in the county park. Martin Allen, of Orange, is chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

A piece of bronze taken from the battleship Maine will be mounted on the same piece of granite as bears the plate. This relic has been in possession of S. H. Finley, captain of Company L, for some time. On this piece of bronze will be engraved the names of the men who died before the company was mustered out.

DRY OFFICER SLAIN

CHANGES MADE IN PLANS FOR N. E. A. VISITORS

Acting on the suggestion of J. P. Baumgartner, editor of The Register, the National Editorial association entertainment committee, meeting Wednesday night in Santa Ana, decided to make a number of important changes in the program of entertainment for the editors who will visit here this summer during the Los Angeles editorial convention.

Instead of transporting the visiting newspapermen by bus, it is planned to handle the party by private autos and to ask the citizens to join in welcoming the visitors and escorting them throughout the county on the golden day of their trip.

Chairman H. A. Lake, of the transportation committee, will assign each community in the county a quota of cars and it is hoped that every auto in the long line can be a closed one. It is believed that in this way the guests will be more pleasantly placed.

In the belief that the trip must be cut down, officials of the N. E. A. in Los Angeles attended the meeting and recommended that the trainload of visitors be brought into Santa Ana direct from San Diego, omitting the stop in San Juan Capistrano.

A special committee to realign the trip for the afternoon will make a report on that part of the visit at the next meeting of the committee. The meeting on Wednesday was unanimous in voting to make any changes in the program which will help make the visit more pleasant.

MUSIC BOOKS ARE ADDED TO CITY LIBRARY

Emphasis is being placed on the fact that a number of music books have been added to the shelves in the children's department in the city library.

These books have been bound by Miss Jeannette McFadden and Mrs. Helen Nelson, who now is in charge of the children's department.

Mrs. Nelson said that in obtaining the music books, she had tried to co-operate with the music teachers in the schools so that the children could take home the type of music that would be most suitable.

Some of the music books to be found in the library are "In the Forest," "Four Songs," by Carrie Jacobs Bond; "Playtime Pieces," by Carl W. Kern; "A Visit to Grandma's," by Charles Wakefield Cadman; "Six Graceful Melody Pictures," by R. H. Woodrow, and "Nature Songs for Children," by Gertrude Wilson.

Stories of Music

Another interesting feature connected with the music books is the number of stories written about music, including "The Fairyland of Opera," "Young People's Story of Music," "The Story of Music and Musicians" and "Wonder Tales from Wagner."

Still another cause for rejoicing among the visitors to the children's library is the story hour, soon to become a regular weekly event. Mrs. Nelson, who is from the state library in Sacramento, said that the story hour will be sometime on Saturday mornings, when mothers will be glad to have their offspring away from home for a short time. The first of these story hours will be devoted to stories of music and great musicians. "In this we hope to co-operate to a great extent with the school music teachers," Mrs. Nelson said.

According to Mrs. Nelson, who has worked in many libraries, the children who come to the library are much better than most children of corresponding ages in other places. "Their desire to read books of history and inventions and their interest in music is most unusual for as young children as they are," she said.

Children Well Read "Not only are they better read but they are better mannered and seem to have a better idea of citizenship standards than is generally the case," Mrs. Nelson continued. "Although in most libraries much time is spent in trying to impress upon the youngsters that books must not be destroyed and tables must not be written upon, none of that is necessary here."

"One reason for this is due to the fact that the children have their own library separate from that of the older folk. The feeling of ownership and personal interest thus is intensified and the child unconsciously finds himself taking a deeper interest than usual in the library and things connected with it," Mrs. Nelson concluded.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS TO HOLD CAMP RALLY

A "camp rally" is scheduled for the boys of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. It was announced today by Secretary T. P. McKee. The boys will swim at 6:30 and at 7:15, a campfire meeting will be held on the playground, at which there will be a regular campers' program.

The boys will sing camp songs and some of the old-time campers will tell about their experiences at Osceola in the last two years. A special speaker is to be present for a talk on "Camping Out" and typical campfire stories will be told.

McKee states that this meeting is for all the boys of the Y, whether they expect to go to camp this summer or not, but it is especially intended to inform and inspire those who expect to attend camp and to give them some idea of what they will find when they get there.

The Santa Ana Y. boys will go into camp July 20 and will remain two weeks.

A second camp, to be operated especially for younger boys, 10 to 12 years of age, is to follow the one for the older boys.

All preparations, as being made at present, are for the largest summer camp ever conducted by the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A.

TEMPLE THEATRE

Tonight is your last chance to see "Lombardi Ltd." at the Temple theater where the Connell Players are scoring with the lovers of the spoken drama.

Starting Saturday matinee, Manager Connell is presenting "Confusion," a three-act comedy of the face type that was written for laughing purposes only. Connell believes the people of Orange County are only interested in a show that will prove a sure fire laugh because the attendance for a comedy is at least double that of a drama. Specialties will be offered between the acts. A wonder motion picture, "A Fool and His Money," and the usual big feature "Country Store" will be held on Tuesday night.

YOST THEATRE

An Association Vaudeville bill replete with mirth, melody, song, dance and novelty is at the Yost theater. The program is headed by Maytime, "A Youthful Revue," presented by seven talented performers. Maytime is a snappy revue portraying memories of youth, full of good, clean comedy lines and situations; and in its portrayal will bring to the minds of its auditors memories of their youthful days when they too were principals in a like atmosphere. Songs, dances and music abound and the whole act is routine and put together in an entertaining way. To lend to the realism of the offering a complete scenic equipment is carried to add to the smooth running of the vehicle.

Margot Francois and Partner offer a pleasing surprise on stilts. This is an entirely novel form of entertainment. There are very few, if any, persons using stilts as a means of entertainment. This couple have been doing their act for several years and are well versed in this line of endeavor. They manage to ensnare many laughs with their falls and bumps. Harold Lloyd's latest comedy, "For Heaven's Sake," is showing on the Yost screen.

WEST COAST-WALKER.

When a man all alone in London sees a girl he would like to know, and wants to meet her without making himself obnoxious, he finds himself in a difficult situation. But Monte Blue, in "The Man Upstairs," the picture which opens tonight at the West Coast-Walker theater, solves the problem quite successfully.

He inserts an ad in the personal or agony column of the newspaper, his method pleases the girl in search of adventure, and this is the beginning of the thrilling mystery that is part of the plot of "The Man Upstairs."

ORIENTAL LURE IS LACKING TO SANTA ANANS

remained immune to the lure of the Orient if not to the biting stings of the voracious mosquitoes and the not less energetic Bornean black fly.

To them the jungle island, to quote their own words, is a place where no one lives and where the dogs bark at strangers.

Shrode has a quick eye and an alert mind for the interesting, the striking, the significant. But he does not agree with the author of the saying, "Time is money." If that were true, the Shrodes would come back with millions, for, according to their own confession, "time is the hardest thing to spend in this country."

"Close to Ground."

Another interesting observation contained in the letter is that the natives stay close to the ground—in fact the ground is their limit. They sit on the floor to peel potatoes, to wash dishes, to prepare dinner, in fact to do anything that can be done comfortably in that position.

The climate is described as follows:

"The climate here is not unbearable nor really unpleasant, yet the feeling is of a heavy atmosphere, low and damp. It rains every day—I mean pours—but does not last very long, perhaps an hour or so, and the soil seems to absorb it quickly."

Housewives in Santa Ana will be interested to know that the Americans in far away Borneo have from three to four servants, leaving the mistress plenty of time for bridge, tennis and cricket—everybody plays cricket.

Good Working Conditions.

Explaining, in a way, the mystic charm of the Orient and why so many white men are ready to cut away from Western civilization, is the writer's confession that notwithstanding drawbacks in way of climate and surroundings, he is well pleased with working conditions. One cannot blame him—his coolies do it all. Not like in America, where everybody takes off his coat and puts the shoulder to the wheel.

In Borneo, the white man is a privileged character, who draws good money from what he knows and not for what he does. White men, whether employed in the public service or in private enterprises, are addressed by the natives as "Tuan," the mode of address, meaning "Sir."

municipal and commercial use.

And so the bill provides for leasing the power rights, so allocated to the applicants, for periods not exceeding 50 years, with provisions similar to those in the federal water power act for the taking over by the government, upon the expiration of any lease, of the properties of the lessee. It further provides that any political subdivision, instead of taking a lease, may, with the consent of the secretary of the interior, pay to the United States, in advance, or in installments covering a period not exceeding 25 years, a part of the cost of the dam proportionate to the amount of power allocated to such political subdivision, and thereby acquire a permanent power right, subject to the payment of a proportionate part of the cost of operating and maintaining the dam.

ANY POWER developed on the canals—and much would be developed on the proposed Los Angeles aqueduct, and some on other canals shall belong to the districts, communities and lands which contribute to the cost thereof, in proportion to such contributions, but reserving to the United States the control of such power rights and the proceeds therefrom, until the government has been fully repaid the cost of such canals.

All vested rights of the states and their citizens, above the reservoir, to the use of the waters of the Colorado river are preserved by the bill.

And it gives to ex-service men and women a preference right in the settlement of the public lands which shall be irrigated from such works, and, as far as practicable, a preference in all construction work authorized by the act.

TO the end that this preferential right of ex-service men and women may be assured of value and effectiveness, the act provides that all lands practicable of irrigation and reclamation by the irrigation works authorized shall be withdrawn from entry, when the works are sufficiently constructed to permit the delivery of water the same shall be open to entry in tracts not exceeding 160 acres, with preferential right to persons who have served in the United States army, navy and marine corps. There are 169,900 acres known to be irrigable from the all-American canal which will be subject to such entry, or 4172 farms of 40 acres each.

To this may be added many thousand acres of land that are classed as doubtful. When location, fertility, climatic conditions, and water supply are considered, it is doubtful if there is another area in the United States that offers such opportunities.

THE government recommended, and the bill provides for the construction of an all-American canal from the Laguna dam to the Imperial and Coachella valleys.

There are 419,900 acres of land in the Imperial and Coachella valleys outside of Imperial irrigation district, which can be irrigated through an all-American canal. This excludes 12,100 acres now under irrigation in Coachella valley. All of this land is entirely worthless without irrigation. It being a barren desert is a liability which can be converted into a valuable asset for the American people.

The bill does not require the Imperial Irrigation district, or any other area of land to assume the obligation of the all-American canal. It provides that no expenditures for the construction of canals or appurtenant structures authorized hereunder shall be made until the lands to be irrigated thereby shall have first been legally obligated to pay their proper proportions as may be determined by the secretary of the interior of the total cost thereof to the United States.

"pursuant to the terms of the Reclamation Act of 1902.

THE 12,000 acres in Coachella valley under irrigation receives its water from wells. During the early years of development in Coachella valley the wells were artesian. As the acreage developed, most of them ceased to flow and pumps were installed. In recent years the water table has lowered in many instances to such an extent that it was necessary for pumps to be lowered in order to lift the water, and today irrigation is being practiced at great expense by pumping and further extension of the cultivated areas is almost impossible. To Coachella valley, therefore, the all-American canal is imperative.

The new lands in Imperial valley when water is applied, will be highly valuable. It therefore seems that even if the Imperial Irrigation district does not care to share in the benefits and burdens of an all-American canal the new lands, including Coachella valley, can well afford to build

AIR DEVELOPMENT IN HAWAII, PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 30.—As a result of studies just concluded by the army general staff, the war department believes that advanced air bases on the outlying islands of the Hawaiian group are essential to an adequate defense of Hawaii and particularly to the Pacific key fortifications at Oahu.

Major General Patrick, the chief of the army air service, has been instructed by Secretary Davis to "take the necessary steps for the Hawaiian government."

Sites on various islands of the group, which soon will come into possession of the United States through an exchange arranged with the territorial authorities, will be utilized for air purposes. The funds for construction already are available.

The fields to be established will be situated near Wailau on Kauai island, near Lanai city on Lanai island; at Upolu point, and at South cape on Hawaii island, and near Hanapepe and Kaula island. The staff studies which led to the finding that airways were required were based on data obtained from the joint army-navy maneuvers last May, which convinced the army and navy umpires that the islands at present were inadequately protected.

Negro Who Asked For High Sheriff Draws Heavy Fine

George Berton, Villa Park negro, who appeared in the sheriff's office several days ago and demanded to see the "high sheriff," to whom he wanted to make a complaint about deputy sheriff's raiding his home "so often," seeking liquor, yesterday was fined $50 in City Recorder J. F. Talbot's court, on a drunk charge. G. Villa, who accompanied Berton to the jail, also was fined $50.

Both paid the fines.

FINLEY SPEAKS UPON COLORADO RIVER PROJECT

Col. S. H. Finley, member of the Orange county board of supervisors, secretary of the Colorado River Aqueduct association, and one of the best known conservationists in Orange county, at the meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, at Yorba Linda, last night, declared that water from the Colorado river is essential to continued expansion of Orange county and Southern California.

Finley delivered a brief address on the Boulder dam project. He was one of a group of Orange county men recently making an extended investigation of that project along with the aqueduct proposal.

He confined his remarks principally to explanation of the water situation in Orange county and pointed out, by use of a map, the formation of water strata of the county.

"Conservation of all the water falling in the Santa Ana river watershed would not be sufficient to meet the future needs of Orange county for domestic and irrigation water, and something else must be done to develop more water, if we are going to continue development and expansion—and that something else is to bring the waters of the Colorado river here for domestic consumption," Finley said.

Stressing the point that Colorado river water can be brought over the mountains and delivered here at approximately 5 cents per 1000 gallons, Finley said this was less than domestic water is now costing in virtually every community that would be served by the proposed aqueduct. The cost, however, he said, would be too much for use of the water for agricultural purposes.

He urged conservation of Santa Ana river water for irrigation purposes exclusively, and discussed the Prado dam proposal, detailing some of the plans for the project.

Finley particularly emphasized the point that the dam was not proposed as a means for creating a reservoir. It will hold back the storm waters, which later will be released and spread over gravel beds, the liquid finally finding its way to the water strata.

W. C. T. U. Asks Cash Aid For Publicity

The Associated Chambers of Commerce, meeting at Yorba Linda last night, referred to the advertising committee a request for financial assistance by the Orange County W. C. T. U., in entertaining delegates to the national convention in Los Angeles, September 28 to October 2. The matter was presented by Mrs. W. B. Harker, of Garden Grove, president of the Orange County W. C. T. U., who said the union contemplated a display at the convention, which will be attended by 1500 women. A souvenir gift of some kind will be presented each delegate. A jar of marmalade has been suggested.

COUNTY PLANS PAMPHLETS TO FORWARD EAST

The county publicity committee, composed of secretaries of chambers of commerce of the county, and headed by Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, county purchasing agent, is planning a series of pamphlets covering industries, schools, hotels, agricultural activities, and the like, it was revealed in report made to the Associated Chambers of Commerce, at Yorba Linda, last night, by Dr. Slabaugh.

He announced possibility of merging of the California Development company and the All-Year club, one organized for boosting the north and the other the south end of the state. With consolidation, he said, the entire state would be boosted as a unit.

100 Letters Weekly
Comments on returns from advertising by the All-Year club, he said he is receiving weekly at his office 100 queries concerning Orange county, the direct result of the advertising campaign of the club. Commenting on the states from which the inquiries came, he said New York headed the list, with Iowa in seventh place. He declared that, prior to preparation of a resume of the inquiries, his off-hand guesses would have been that more queries were coming from Iowa than any other state in the Union.

L. A. Smith, representing the Burns-McDonald-Smith engineering firm, discussed the outfall sewer, pointing out why extension of the line further into the ocean is necessary. He declared his belief that, with completion of the project, there would be no further pollution of the beach area in the vicinity of the outfall.

Others Make Speeches
Brief addresses were made by J. R. Hunt, manager of the Orange County fair; George Reid, manager of the California Valencia Orange show, at Anaheim; Sam Jernigan, sheriff; S. C. Hartranft, assemblyman; T. B. Talbert, chairman of the board of supervisors; William Schumacher, supervisor; Lew Wallace, who made his last report as chairman of the harbor committee of the body, and George T. Peabody, who, at the request of President J. W. Carmichael, explained on a map the harbor areas the county will gain by the tidelands suit now in court.

A special meeting of the county body will be held at Elks club, on the evening of May 20, when a special entertainment program will be provided, including a more extended explanation of the tidelands situation by Peabody. Following the meeting, the delegates and visitors will attend the Valencia show in a body.

The meeting last night was held in the Women's clubhouse. The women of the club served a chicken dinner.

Entertainment at Dinner
During the meal the diners were entertained by vocal selections by Miss Olive Gale, accompanied by Mrs. Selover; a reading by E. R. Ryan, and a zither solo by H. W. Gender.

The address of welcome was by George T. Kellogg and the response was by L. F. Curnutt, of Orange.

President Carmichael announced the following standing committees, with others to be named later:

Advisory—Judge L. F. Curnutt, chairman; F. C. Krause, E. E. Jahraus, E. Eymann Huff and Lew Wallace.

Advertising—Dr. F. W. Slabaugh, chairman; Harry Welch, George A. Raymer, V. D. Johnson, George W. Reid, J. A. Armitage, Thomas E. Pickrell, Ray B. Leach.

HAD BREAKING OUT OF PIMPLES

On Face, Neck and Chest.
Healed by Cuticura.

"For about a year I was troubled with a breaking out of pimples on my face, neck and chest. The skin was red and sore and I could hardly sleep at night because of the irritation. My clothing aggravated the breaking out on my chest and my face was disfigured.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after the first day I used it I got relief. Then I purchased more and in about two months I was completely healed, after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment." NEW CHAMBERS HEAD OUTLINES PLANS OF YEAR

Forecasting an unusually busy year and outlining plans for work, W. J. Carmichael, newly elected president, last night made his inaugural address to the Associated Chambers of Commerce, at the Yorba Linda meeting. President Carmichael said in part:

"Of the things crowding into the program for the year, a few stand out as paramount. Do we appreciate the value of conservation and development of our water resources? If so, our thanks are due those valiant, self-sacrificing men who have and who will continue the work for a proper solution of this all-important problem. This must receive our immediate attention and unanimous support.

"Neck and neck with this problem comes our Orange county harbor. One needs only to understand the facts to make him a strong advocate of this wonderful county-wide development. May I suggest group meetings throughout the county be planned, that our people may be fully informed on all phases of the question? I am firm in my belief that no commercial improvement will add more quickly to the county development nor pay off a bond issue in so short a time as the harbor improvement. With the harbor zoned for pleasure craft and industry, we will have the ideal in county development.

Well Balanced Action
"Realizing the necessity for a well balanced plan of action, we must give due consideration to the extension of and improvement of highways, most vital to the growth of the county. Our roads committee will make a comprehensive study of the question and work diligently toward the accomplishment of a reasonable expansion along this line.

"Conservation may be applied to all of our resources. We propose to support all measures for the protection of the trees and brush covering our watersheds.

"The protection and development of agriculture, through the various organizations now working for advancement along practical lines and just consideration by our state officials for the necessary schools of agriculture applicable to our local requirements should receive our attention.

"We recommend a survey of our coast line, looking toward a permanent county open bathing beach and recreation park before it is too late. In view of the fact that the quiet waters of Newport bay are twice a year visited by thousands of water fowl, some of rare variety, and that many naturalists come here to study bird life, we feel that it would be a part of wisdom if the whole of the bay district could be declared a bird reservation.

Further Park Development
"Orange County park, with its beautiful setting, attracts thousands of visitors yearly. We hardly appreciate the value of our holdings there. It is suggested that a special committee be appointed to study the possibilities of further development of the park and consider an open air theater and making of it a nationally advertised feature of the county. Our roads committee could co-operate in suggesting additional necessary approaches to the park.

"We recommend the judicious expenditure of public funds for playground purposes and especially invite our individual communities to carefully consider a properly supervised playground activity for our children during school vacation. Delinquency rapidly will diminish where boys and girls are kept properly interested. There is no more valuable crop in any community than that of our boys and girls. Why not act now?

"We propose to render every assistance in the advancement of such lines of industry as will benefit our county and give work to a multitude of people desiring to make their homes among us. This is a big subject and we should here compliment the secretaries and officials of our chambers of commerce for the efficient and untiring efforts made in this direction.

Organizations Thanked
"It is a great pleasure, I am sure, for us to publicly express our appreciation and thanks to the various service clubs, our civic and religious organizations for the efforts put forth for the betterment of our communities and for the development of a tolerant community spirit throughout the collective units of our great county. Every day links our cities closer together and, with harmony and co-operation, we will accomplish much.

"We owe a debt of gratitude to our news representatives. A continued policy of constructive newspaper editorials will redound to the glory of any district.

"We have transportation, school and a large number of other problems requiring our attention, which will be brought up at a later date. Let us go forward into the year's work full of enthusiasm, get back of and boost our Orange show, the County Fair association and all community efforts of the right sort."

MANY PRESENT AT COMMUNITY PLAY OFFERING

Another large audience was well entertained last night by the Community Players' offering, "Captain Applejack," directed by George Gerwing and produced in the auditorium of the Ebell club. The play is to be given again tonight and tomorrow night.

The second evening's performance seemed to be marked by even more finesse and excellence of stage technique than the first performance.

The play portrays the life of the jolly old pirates, who used to rule the waves with a black flag at the masthead and a cutlass in the hands of each of the rough and ready crew.

The settings were well in keeping with the theme of the production. The ushers were very attractive in their buccaneer costumes. The play has been described by many as one of the best ever produced by the Players' organization.

NEW THEATER WILL BE COMPLETED SOON

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Yost today were located in living quarters on the second floor of the New Yost Theater building, North Broadway.

Completion of the building is near at hand, it was indicated today by Harold Yost, who said that work started today on installation of the new pipe organ, which arrived Wednesday, and that the opening date for the theater definitely had been set for June 1. Decorators will finish their work within 10 days and stage builders will be out of the way by the middle of next week.

Santa Anans, who have had the opportunity of seeing the interior of the new theater, say the decorations are such as to make the playhouse distinctive and one of the prettiest in the Southland.

Pair Booked Here For Non-Support

Two men, charged with non-support of minor children, were booked last night in the county jail.

Juan Valdez, 35, Los Angeles, was arrested in Garden Grove by Ed McClellan, chief criminal deputy sheriff, and George A. Fleet, 29, was brought here from San Rafael, where he was arrested several days ago. Joe Scott, deputy sheriff, was in charge of the prisoner on the trip from San Rafael. Today, before Justice Kenneth Morrison, Valdez pleaded not guilty and his examining trial was set for 9 a. m., May 5. He made bail for $500.

Fleet has not been arraigned.

POT OF SEEDS DISCOVERED ON MOJAVE DESERT MAY BE ANCIENT CIVILIZATION SIGN

A pot of seeds, found in a crevice on the side of a hill at an out-of-the-way place on the Mojave desert is being shown by Milton McMillan, desert explorer and geologist, whose home is at 123 South Claudina street, Anaheim.

The find is proving of unusual interest. The jar is plainly of Indian making. How many years have gone by since the jar was placed in the crevice by some Indian of the desert, none can say. McMillan will exhibit his find to scientists in Los Angeles.

"I want to this place," said McMillan, "with a man who wanted to blow out the crevice in order to get at honey deposited there by a busy lot of bees. We used some dynamite and while digging away the rock we came across this piece of pottery."

The jar holds about a gallon of seeds and it was filled to the brim. The top was sealed with a wax with a queer odor. A wooden awl, covered with this wax, was found in the dirt.

In the jar was a variety of seeds. They look to be alive enough to germinate and it is McMillan's intention to plant some of each kind in his yard in Anaheim.

Among the seeds are some that appear to be from watermelons, pumpkins, gourds and beans.

The pumpkin seeds have attracted a great deal of attention. Upon most of the seeds appear cracks or carvings. McMillan is sure that these marks are carvings placed on the pumpkin seeds by human hands.

It is known among those familiar with the desert life of the Indians that they frequently cached seeds in crevices and caves as food. Whether the variety of seeds found in the jar will indicate that they came from vegetables introduced here by the mission padres has not been determined. McMillan is of the opinion that the jar and its contents pre-date the arrival of the padres.

HIGH SCORE MADE BY PISTOL SQUAD

Santa Ana police officers smashed all their own records on the pistol range yesterday, when five men shot better than 240 out of a possible 300 score. It was by far the best aggregate score of the year.

The total of the 10 highest marksmen also was the highest of the year and places the Santa Ana police officers on an equal footing with any team in Southern California, it is thought.

Officer F. W. Howard, ace of the squad for the last several months, was high yesterday with a score of 261 out of the possible 300 score. Second high gun was held by City Marshal Claude Rogers, who scored 246. B. A. Hershey was third, with 244. V. Mohr, fourth, with 242, and Peterson fifth, with a score of 241.

Other scores were: Perry, 238; Jaynes, 223; Smithwick, 221; Elliott, 211; Lentz, 215.

MRS. SCRIBNER IS PARTY HONOREE

WINTERSBURG, April 30.—Delightful in every way was the social affair given as a courtesy to Mrs. W. F. Scribner Thursday, with Mrs. W. P. Treece as the hostess.

The day's events included a 1 o'clock luncheon, with covers laid for Mrs. Scribner and 24 of her closest friends. In the afternoon, a radio party, with a special gift giving was held.

Mrs. Scribner is departing from Wintersburg in a few days for San Fernando, where she will make her home.

The table decorations included large bowls of lovely roses, all being grown in Mrs. Treece's garden.

Individual salad dishes of dainty waxed boxes in green and these, together with the dainty favors and fancy napkins, added the finishing touch to the prettily appointed luncheon table. A verse, appropriate to the occasion, was found with the favors.

From 2 o'clock until 3 o'clock, the radio proved the center of interest and it was at this time, when tuned in on KNRC, Los Angeles, that a delightful little surprise greeted the honor guest when she heard that the number to be given, "Paddling Madeline Home," was in her honor, given at the request of the hostess, Mrs. Treece.

In apparent sincerity, Mrs. Scribner was presented with a small Dutch doll, ostensibly a farewell gift from the assembled party and while the honor guest was, as a natural result, wondering at their choice of remembrance, the women brought forth another box containing a very handsome gift, which they presented with a pretty little speech, which was followed by one of sincere appreciation by Mrs. Scribner, who was overwhelmed with the diversity of the honors showered upon her.

Those included in Mrs. Treece's guest list on Thursday were Mrs. W. F. Scribner, Mrs. B. M. Honold, Mrs. D. Smith, Mrs. J. J. Whitsett, Mrs. M. J. McGill, Mrs. D. Godfrey, Mrs. Carrie Groves, Mrs. G. E. Burry, Mrs. Estelle Smith, Mrs. Frank Rowley, Mrs. Sam Ferguson, Mrs. W. J. Woolsey, Mrs. I. C. Warner, Mrs. Everette, Mrs. Lella Mullens, Mrs. Charles Vernon, Mrs. W. L. Walker, Mrs. Callie Mayhugh, Mrs. Ray McCormack, Mrs. L. R. Ridenour, Mrs. E. T. Latimer, Miss Elsie Hunt, Dr. and Mrs. Hawes and the hostess, Mrs. W. P. Treece. Eight children who accompanied their mothers, also enjoyed the day.

SANTA FE ROAD TO OCCUPY NEW QUARTERS HERE

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad system will occupy the office formerly occupied by O. M. Robbins and son, insurance agents, at 403 North Cycamore street, effective May 1, according to an announcement today by C. D. Lindsey, district representative for the railroad, in charge of passenger traffic.

The railroad formerly maintained offices in the Santa Ana Santa Fe depot. The new uptown office will include a general information and travel bureau, supplying data for persons who wish to travel to any part of the world. The new office will be in charge of Lindsey. He will be assisted by H. M. Baade, Santa Ana passenger agent.

Lindsey and Baade have spent more than 20 years in Santa Ana, Lindsey having been connected with the company for 25 years and Baade, 16 years, making a total of 41 years of railroad experience in Santa Ana.

"The new office will be done in colors suggestive of the Santa Fe Indians," Lindsey explained. "Navajo curios and blankets will be included in the decoration scheme. As soon as the fixtures and equipment can be installed, the office will be opened. Announcement of the date will be made later."

"The fact that the Register office was located on Cycamore street, together with the Elks club, Western Union office, the Rossmore hotel, the public library, the post office, the largest department store in town, the courthouse, the office of the board of education, Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., influenced James B. Duffy, general passenger agent, and W. J. Black, passenger traffic manager, of the Santa Fe system, in locating the downtown offices on that street. Six locations were considered."

Robbins and son tomorrow will move to 107 West Fifth street, in the remodeled Medlock building. The insurance firm has been located in the Rossmore hotel building for 10 years, it was announced today by Mac O. Robbins, manager of the business enterprise.

In the new location, Robbins and son will have more room and will be in better position to give insurance service to their clients.

Too Much of a Good Thing

"It is six years since I had my first stomach trouble. It rapidly grew worse. My food would not digest and I was reduced to skin and bone. My doctor put me on a starvation diet, and when my pains grew worse I concluded it was too much of a good thing. On the advice of my druggist I tried MAY'S and am now entirely well." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—Adv.

BILLY EVANS
Says
PIRATES SLUMP

The poor start of the Pittsburgh club is one of the early surprises of the major league races.

The Pirates are a great team. That was proved in the 1925 National league race and the world series. Failure to win this spring is laid to lack of condition.

"My club has not yet hit its stride due to lack of condition. Minor accidents as well as illness have also played havoc with the work of a number of players," says Manager Bill McKechnie.

"I am not discouraged over the poor start of my team. I know the real ability of the club and just watch our smoke when the players hit their stride."

Many of the early defeats suffered by the Pirates have been close-score games. Such games are the true test of defense and offense. When a club is losing games by one run it is always possible to trace the defeat to some mental or physical slip.

LAGUNA BEACH, WESTMINSTER TANGLE SUNDAY IN DECIDING SPRING LEAGUE TITLE FRAY

Westminster and Laguna Beach, between whom rests the championship of the Orange County Spring Baseball league, will meet at Laguna Beach Sunday afternoon in the "crucial" of all crucial contests played recently in these regions.

Undeclared in its last five starts, Laguna Beach needs only to turn back the Beet-toppers to gain a strangle hold on the title. A victory for Westminster would throw the two clubs into a tie for first place with the league schedule only one week from completion. A play-off series probably would be necessary to decide the championship.

Herb Salveson, the big Westminster gunner, has been pitching in the way that made him the most feared of semi-pro hurlers a few years ago and it is not at all impossible for him to step in with another of his fine performances Sunday. "Barney" Hodges will get the nod from the Laguna Beach directorate and as Hodges hasn't lost a game since he donned a Caveman uniform he will go to the post an odds-on favorite.

Costa Mesa and the Van Dien Youngs of Santa Ana, both out of the running for the pennant, will tangle at Costa Mesa in the day's other feature.

HELEN WAINWRIGHT ENTERS CHANNEL SWIM

HELEN WAINWRIGHT

One of the latest swimmers to enter the list of English channel competitors this year is Helen Wainwright, famous all-round American mermaid. Miss Wainwright is bent on conquering the treacherous waters between England and France and has mapped out a stiff training program to prepare for the ordeal.

She recently made her initial long distance swim, negotiating the 10 miles around the Davis Islands in Tampa bay in four hours, 50 minutes. In performing the feat she encountered stiff winds, adverse tides and a steady rain. Completion of the course found the Olympic champion apparently untired and none the worse for her experience.

Miss Wainwright has spent the winter in Tampa, Fla., as professional instructor at Davis Islands. She was chairman of the watch-sports committee during the Tampa bay regatta and has coached high school girls in Tampa in preparing for aquatic contests.

POLY ATHLETES READY FOR BIG TEST OF YEAR

Although San Diego, Los Angeles Poly, Hollywood and Riverside are expected to fight it out for the Southern California Interscholastic track and field championship of 1926, a tiny team of three men has a chance to place Santa Ana high school well up in the point column when the annual classic is held at the Los Angeles Coliseum tomorrow afternoon.

Harold Breeding, Bob McKean and Harvey Bear are the local athletes who will carry the Poly colors into the big meet and they could bring home a total of 15 points if they could each score victories in their respective races. Fifteen points, it is believed, would be enough to place Santa Ana one-two-three in the affair.

Breeding is a miler and a good one. He hasn't lost a race this season and that he is in splendid condition is attested by the time of 8 minutes, 27 seconds that he turned in for three laps in practice Wednesday afternoon. Breeding will be pitted against a fast field which includes Ferguson, Ingleswood, a consistent 4:35 miler, and Patterson, Los Angeles Poly, who is good for 4:38. Breeding's best mark in competition this year is 4:38.8.

McKean's chief opponents will be Carnahan, the little distance star from Riverside, and McGeagh of Los Angeles Poly, both of whom are supposed to be capable of running close to 2 minutes flat. McKean can step the distance in close to that himself and in addition is a fine "come-through" runner who does his best against the toughest competition.

Bear, many think, has the best chance of the local trio, of winning his race. He is entered in the 220. His most feared foe will be Howard of Compton, who has been timed in 22 seconds flat.

CLASSIC TOMORROW

SEATTLE, Wash., April 30.—Track stars of the Northwest were limbering up today for the annual University of Washington relays tomorrow.

There were several speedy men in different events who could be looked upon as likely performers to smash some records, but the most interesting individual of them all was an outsider—the famous Norwegian vaulter, Charley Hoff. Hoff is going to try to break his own world's record in the pole vault of 13 feet, 11 1/2 inches.

"I want to go better than 14 feet," he said today.

Probably the most outstanding individual performer other than Hoff is Russell Sweet, flashy Montana sprinter, whose best mark in the 100 yards is 9.8 seconds. Jim Charters, University of Washington half miler, coast conference champion, is another individual star among the 250 athletes who will participate.

SIEGEL HEADS POLY BATTERS IN LEAGUE GAMES; HEARD'S SEASON MARK IS BEST

Chet Siegel, rangy guardian of catcher's toes on the Santa Ana high school baseball team, ranks first among his team mates with a league batting average of .412, figures compiled today showed.

In 17 times at the plate, he has hit safely seven times. However, for the season's batting honors, Siegel bows to Terry Heard and Ed Daley. Heard has a .370 mark for the season.

Siegel also has scored more runs during the season than any of the other Poly players. He has marked

YANKS FEARED MOST BY SOLON TEAM-HARRIS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, April 30.—"New York is the club we have to beat if we are going to win another pennant," Bucky Harris, young manager of the champion Washington Senators said here today.

"We considered before the season opened that Philadelphia and St. Louis would give us the hardest opposition, but we did not look as lightly on the Yanks as some of the critics," he said.

"The Yanks had tremendous hitting possibilities but the defense of the club depended entirely upon two rookie players around second base, the most vital spot of the inner defense.

"From what I have seen of Koenig and Lazzeri they are good ball players but it remains to be seen if they will hold the same speed through the middle of the season.

"With a lineup crowded with sluggers who can knock any ball out of the park, the Yanks are something to beat. Every manager in the league knows that now.

"Babe" Ruth, Gehrig, Dugan, Combs, Meusel and Collins are not spring hitting rookies. Dugan may be hitting over his head now, but he is a great ball player and all the better since he got rid of his trick knee.

"Against the Athletics and the Browns, where there are not so many hard hitters in the lineup, it is possible for a pitcher to work on them and for a manager to plan the kind of pitching that they are less against. But against the Yanks a pitcher never gets a rest; he can't figure or work on seven or eight batters, any one of whom is likely to crown everything he throws at them.

"Only two pitchers all season have been able to pitch an entire game against the Yanks and they lost their games. That shows you what kind of a club it is."

BILLY EVANS

Is it possible for a batsman to hit the ball over the fence in fair territory and yet be deprived of the home run and be forced to bat over?

One of the ways such an unpleasant situation can arise is through the calling of a balk on the pitcher.

With runners on the bases there are any number of infractions of the pitching rules that the umpire may construe as a balk.

When the umpire, for some reason, calls a balk on the pitcher, it immediately suspends play and the only action possible is the advancement of each runner one base.

Very often a pitcher, realizing the umpire has or is about to call a balk, hurriedly delivers the ball to the batsman with the hope that it may influence a different decision on the part of the official.

If the ball is over the batsman is almost certain to swing at it. If such a swing resulted in a home run it would simply be wasted effort. The ball became dead the moment the umpire ruled balk.

The batsman, despite his mighty drive, would be forced to bat over again.

This play has happened several times in the majors.

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's hero—Gus Felix, for the third day in a row, drove in the run that gave the Robins a 3 to 1 victory over the Phillies.

The Yanks pounded Joe Bush for seven hits and seven runs in the fourth and fifth innings and beat the Senators, 8 to 5.

Barnes went wild in the sixth inning and panned in the run that helped the Braves knock off the Giants, 4 to 2.

The Reds staged a grand picnic and massacred the Pirates, 16 to 9.

Ty Cobb got his first homer of the season, but the Browns beat the Tigers, 3 to 2.

Old Jack Quinn had a good day and hurled the Athletics to a 4 to 0 victory over the Red Sox.

The White Sox beat the Indians 7 to 5 and knocked them into second place.

"Duster" Mails delivered a wild pitch and let in the run that gave the Cubs a 6 to 5 win over the Cardinals.

Billy Evans

Says

ball is properly balanced and for that reason takes the curve better. Regardless of the real reason, curve ball pitching is getting a strong play in both leagues, with the south paws featuring the hook.

The Chicago White Sox so far have been an easy victim to the wiles of left handers. This is rather surprising since the club has a dangerous array of right handers and several left handers, like Manager Collins, who are quite successful against portersiders.

If the spring pitching is any criterion this is sure to be a big year for southpaws.

BROW-EYED GOLFERS

A news item says golfers with brown eyes have a better chance to become proficient at the sport than those with eyes of any other hue.

The fact that two of the greatest women golfers Joyce Wethered and Cecil Leitch have brown eyes, is stressed as proof of the contention. Incidentally Walter Hagen, Abe Mitchell and Bobby Jones are brown eyed. They are also pretty fair players.

Strong eyes are very necessary in golf. However, the oculists insist brown eyes are no stronger than blue or gray and it just so happens that five of the games greatest players are brown-eyed.

BOWLING

Dates on which Santa Ana teams will shoot in the eleventh annual Pacific Coast Bowling Congress at San Diego 1-15 were announced here today.

Mitchell's Decorators, Southern California, Junior league champions, and the Givens and Cannon pharmacy teams go on the drives at 11 p. m. Saturday, May 8.

The Chamber of Commerce, Fluor Construction company and Broadway alley quintettes bowl on the 7 p. m. squad Wednesday, May 12, while the C. and C. alley and Robertson Electric company fives roll on the 5 p. m. squad Thursday, May 13. Rankin's Ladies bowl at 7 p. m. May 13.

One hundred and seventy five-man teams are entered in the tournament.

The Orange Deuces defeated Crane company, 3 to 1, in a house league match at the Broadway alleys last night. Scores:

'BULL' PROGRAM IS FEATURE OF LIONS MEETING

"Bull" was thrown to beat the band at the session, yesterday of the Santa Ana Lions club, when the Orange club put on the program, with Ed Stinson, whose classification is "bull" officiating as chairman.

The Orange Lions came over in a body and, forming in line outside the grounds of St. Ann's Inn, marched in single file into the dining room. Heading the procession was Paul Muench, who assisted Jess Coe in carrying a big base drum, the latter beating the drum. It was a camouflage band, carrying out the "bull" spirit.

The Rev. "Hairless" Harry Hill, pastor of the First Christian church, in Orange, was the speaker and his subject was "bull." The sky pilot delivered a clever address, appropriate to his subject, in which he pictured the city of Orange as the center of Orange county, the leading city of the county and the future metropolis of the Southland, with Los Angeles and Santa Ana as mere suburbs. The Santa Ana Lions club was presented as the "runt" club of the county, with Orange performing the "big brother" act.

Stinson put over some good stories with hits at members of the Santa Ana club, and the "gayety of nations" was increased by some clever songs by Mrs. A. P. M. Brown, who also introduced local names in one of her numbers. The singer was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Jess Coe. An itinerant organ grinder also contributed to the program and Miss Olli, native Hawaiian, entertained with Hawaiian songs.

Fines imposed on the Orange visitors by President Harold Wahlberg, of Santa Ana, and, by Stinson on Santa Ana members, added a considerable amount to the club's charity fund.

EVENING SKY FOR MAY

MAY 1 9 P.M.
MAY 15 8 P.M.
MAY 31 7 P.M.

This map shows the constellations visible at 9 p. m., May 1, 8 p. m., May 15, in latitude 35 degrees north.

Though designed specifically for this latitude it is practicable for all parts of the United States and southern Canada as a change of a few degrees in latitude has little effect on the appearance of the heavens.

To view the constellations as they appear in the sky hold the map over the head with the top of the map toward the north.

At the times mentioned the principal constellations in view are Leo and Gemini in the western sky. Virgo in the southeast, Bootes in the east, Ursa Major to the north of the zenith and Hydra with its riders, Corvus and Crater, stretching across the southern sky below the constellations of Cancer, Leo and Virgo.

Brilliant Capella
In the northwest Auriga with its brilliant Capella is still above the horizon while in the northeast the magnificent Vega in Lyra is now coming conspicuously into view. The constellation of the Orion has now disappeared below the western horizon and also The Dog-Star, Sirius, in Canis Major but the Little Dog-Star, Procyon, in Canis Minor, may still be seen far over in the west.

The only bright star in the southwest at this time is the second magnitude star Alpherid in Hydra. The Water-Snake. The head of Hydra is marked by a group of fairly bright stars to the south of Cancer and west of The Sickle in Leo.

Spica, the white star of the first magnitude in the southeast, in Virgo, represents the ear of wheat that The Maiden holds in her hand.

North and a little to the east of Spica at the base of the kite-shaped group of stars in Bootes is the beautiful reddish yellow Arcturus, considered by some to be the finest star visible in the evening sky in spring and summer, though others prefer the diamond-like Vega. These two stars are almost exactly equal in brightness though they differ very greatly in color.

Saturn Appears
The planet Saturn has now come into the evening sky and will be found far over in the southeast in Libra. It is slightly yellowish in color and is a shade brighter than Arcturus or Vega. It is now at its best for observation for it comes into opposition with the sun on the 14th of this month when it rises and remains visible throughout the night.

The planets Venus, Jupiter and Mars will now be found in the eastern sky before sunrise. Venus, by far the brightest of all the planets, is now a magnificent Morning Star.

Jupiter and Mars are not far apart in the southeast. Mars will be readily recognized by its reddish color. Though far inferior to Jupiter at this time it is steadily increasing in brightness as it approaches the north and now outshines some of the stars of first magnitude.

Use Lemons to Whiten Skin

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orinard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It can not irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It can not be bought ready to use because it is prepared immediately after it is prepared.—Adv.

ORANGE BAND TO GIVE FIRST CONCERT JULY 4

ORANGE, April 30.—Band practice by the newly organized municipal band of Orange got underway in earnest Wednesday night, when 21 musicians met in the old chamber of commerce room in the city hall.

Although previous practices had been conducted at the home of Prof. Franz Salbach, musical director, adequate facilities were not obtained until the board of trustees granted the use of the city hall room at the meeting Tuesday.

According to Prof. Salbach, the organization should be far enough along in a musical way to make its first public appearance on July 4. Salbach stated that he was greatly gratified at the backing given the band by the city trustees. He expressed the hope that other organizations and individuals of the community would recognize the importance of a municipal band in the community.

Whitell presented Jemison with an engraved Elk's ring on behalf of the force. In a speech of presentation, Whitell complimented Jemison on his efficiency. Others of the force seconded the former mayor's remarks.

In replying to Whitell, the marshal traced the progress of the force from the time he assumed control six years ago up to the present. NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

RIVER BRIDGE PROJECT WINS C. OF C. SUPPORT

FULLERTON, April 30.—The Fullerton Chamber of Commerce is in favor of the construction of a $30,000 across the Santa Ana river on the proposed Harbor Highway. This was decided yesterday noon at the directors' luncheon at McFarland's cafe, when the report submitted to them by the highway committee was approved.

According to the committee's recommendations, the bridge should be constructed of concrete piling with a wooden superstructure.

It was reported at the meeting that much favorable comment has been made by merchants over the new method of greeting newcomers to the city. This method was started by the new secretary, Ray E. Leach. Plans are being laid for a chamber of commerce's letter day. On this day, residents of the city will be requested to send from one to five letters to eastern friends, telling them of the advantages of Fullerton. The exact date for this event has not been set.

Several ways of advertising were discussed. A small advertisement will be placed in a Los Angeles paper each Monday for the rest of the year, it was decided. Secretary Leach was instructed to proceed with plans for publishing a small booklet on Fullerton.

Plans are being made for a membership campaign in the near future. The secretary was instructed to collect necessary data and then report back to the board.

Costa Mesa House Destroyed by Fire

COSTA MESA, April 30.—Wednesday evening a coal oil stove exploded in the old house on the R. B. Riley property, situated on Tustin avenue between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets. Owing to the low water pressure, very little could be accomplished. The Costa Mesa chemical apparatus came too late to save the old building.

The Newport fire department answered the call as quickly as possible, but the fire was almost out by the time the firemen arrived.

COSTA MESA

COSTA MESA, April 30.—Buddy Baker, of Fairview avenue, purchased a car last week and Sunday. Buddy Baker and his wife, Mrs. Baker, returned from the car trip on Monday, pinning the boys underneath. McDowell dislocated his shoulder, while Buddy received only bruises. Monday night, in the Costa Mesa Bank building, a meeting was called in regard to a note of $2,800 due to the Hellman bank, Los Angeles. This note was originally signed by 40 interested citizens to provide gas for the Harper-Fairview school. The note was renewed, and at the time of renewal, only 28 of the 40 original signers were in the community.

At the time these business men took on this responsibility, it was thought that others would help. The district would have been compelled to install electric heaters at a cost of $4000.

Of the 22 men present, four volunteered to help meet the note. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Brock and family were Sunday visitors at the home of the Rev. B. W. Brock in Colton.

Finds Jail Life Not To His Liking

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 30.—Ten minutes in jail was enough for C. J. Peters, a carpet cleaner with two addresses, one at 825 Madison avenue, Compton, and the other at 890 Santa Cruz street, San Pedro.

Peters was arrested recently by Motorcycle Officer Elmer Parker for turning around in the middle of the block. Yesterday, he appeared and pleaded guilty to the charge. City Recorder C. W. Warner assessed a fine of $5 for the offense.

"I won't pay it, I'll go to jail first," Peters declared. Ten minutes after he was locked in the city jail, he voiced a desire to pay the fine and was released.

LAGUNA TO STAGE MAY DAY FESTIVAL

LAGUNA BEACH, April 30.—The school children of Laguna Beach are to have an old-fashioned May day festival Saturday afternoon with a queen, court attendants and everything that belongs to a proper May day celebration. The queen is to be chosen by drawing a certain flower from a bunch of blooms. One flower in the bunch will be marked with a secret sign and each blossom will represent some girl in the eighth grade. Only the girls in the eighth grade are eligible to be queen. This has been done because they leave the Laguna Beach school next year and this event will be their last chance to participate in school activities here.

A costume parade will precede the crowning of the queen. There are eight prizes to be bestowed in various classes, with a gift for the May queen. The queen's gift is from Mrs. H. R. Macbeth. It is a solid silver bracelet made by the Navajo Indians. The other prizes are to be given for the prettiest costumes and for the funniest ones. Miss Jessie M. Washburn has given a gold and blue enameled vanity case as one prize; Joseph Jahraus has donated a set of drawing materials consisting of a block of fine drawing paper and a box of charcoal sticks; Mr. Jahraus has donated a saw; J. Walter Rankin has donated a bottle of five bath salts in a pretty container; Mr. Emma Jane Pence and J. N. Isch have given candy and sweets; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Pitzel's offering is a box of embroidered handkerchiefs; and F. W. Shields and L. A. Gallo-way have presented a boy's stag horn knife with chain that can be snapped to the belt. The Laguna P-T-A is sponsoring the May fete, with Mrs. William A. Griffith in direct charge. After the parade, the children will go to Heister's hotel, where the queen will be crowned. Then, games will be played until time for refreshments.

Last year, the May day celebration was in charge of the Woman's club but this year the P-T-A is in charge.

NEW HUNTINGTON BEACH OIL ORDINANCES ARE NOT LEGAL, SAYS FORMER CITY ATTORNEY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 30.—City ordinances regulating and controlling oil drilling in the city of Huntington Beach, which were passed Wednesday night by the city board of trustees, are null and void, it was declared today by L. W. Blodgett, former city attorney.

"A city ordinance fixes the exclusive place for meetings of the board of trustees in this city," Blodgett declared. "The city ordinance provides that all meetings of the city board of trustees shall be held in the city hall, which is described in the ordinance as being a municipal building, situated on the north side of Orange avenue between Fifth and Sixth streets."

"The state law provides that the place of meeting shall be fixed by ordinance and the very first act of any newly incorporated city is to fix the place of meeting for its board of trustees, so that they may transact business."

According to Blodgett, the ordinance regulating oil drilling and the ordinance providing for the licensing of oil companies may be considered as never having been passed, as first reading of these two ordinances took place in the city auditorium and not in the city hall.

The reading of the ordinance in the auditorium also invalidates the second reading, which was in the council chamber, it is claimed. A permit granted to the Southern Counties Gas company, allowing the concern to lay pipe lines on certain streets in the recently opened territory, is also effected, it is claimed.

An ordinance introduced by the trustees Wednesday evening which provides that the oil companies shall set a surface casing 800 feet in the ground will not be effected. It was read for the first time this week.

"I am deeply interested in the welfare of this community and it is better to have this matter straightened out now, than to wait until the oil activity becomes feverish and then learn that we have no ordinance whatsoever regulating oil drilling," Blodgett declared, in stating his reason for making a public statement today.

What steps will be taken by the city trustees as the result of the new turn of affairs is not known. Meanwhile, oil companies will have another week in which to operate uncontrolled, as the trustees will need that much time in which to pass another emergency ordinance.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 30.—Twenty-five officers and members of Azure lodge, Fullerton, were guests of the local Masons Wednesday night in the Masonic hall.

Griffith, the president of the art association, were students in Paris together.

Mr. Wendt also was given the $2000 Ranger award at the Corcoran gallery, Washington, D. C., this year. The criticism of the Wendt exhibition speak of it as a superb collection of landscapes and the work of a great master. William Wendt is a resident of Laguna Beach and has his studio here.

No ordinary buttermilk can or does perform this most vital function.

A-DOF-LUS is that delicious food known to medical science as Acidophilus Milk, a regularly prescribed specific for intestinal disorders. Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, April 30.—"Free speech is safe; it pays," H. L. Mencken said at his home in Baltimore.

Indications are that he's going to have a chance to test this theory thoroughly. He's won the first round of his "Hatrack" fight but there may prove to be a good many more to come.

The postoffice department has barred his "American Mercury" from the mails. Now, the postoffice department is different from a court of law, state or federal. It's pretty much a law unto itself.

Being "agin" everybody and everything, and "agin" 'em with such boundless energy and such a wealth of vituperation, Mencken must have a tremendous lot of desperately bitter enemies—not only individual enemies but enemy organizations, powerful ones, too.

When the post-office department does bar a magazine from the mails, it frequently does it with mighty little explanation, and it's a diabolical job to knock it out. It's been complained, again and again, that it has too much power of this sort, but it has it, and that's that.

Mencken, personally, is just like his magazine. He's a nice chap to meet, he's extremely interesting and he's hospitable and polite. But his conversation is one unrelenting roast of the entire universe—not a single good thing in it, according to H. L.

If he ever does say a good word for anything, it invariably is preliminary to some qualification which makes it the reverse.

To illustrate: In an interview, this country, he observed, is the most wonderful place on earth for making plenty of money easily. Sounds complimentary to the country, what? Well, wait.

"Mind you," he added, "I think all this prosperity will blow up presently, but it will last my time."

Selfish, you see, not a selfish individual, a selfish philosophy.

Mencken says so himself.

"I know it's a selfish view," he conceded, "but—"

And he shrugged. Selfish or not it's his view.

It may be intelligent but it isn't charitable.

It's depressing, too, to have every single thing a man says leave you with a bad taste in your mouth.

The world isn't exclusively rotten spots.

Mencken may be aware of this, but except where it's rotten it doesn't seem to interest him.

Family of Skunks Drives Man Wild

SIoux FALLS, S. D., April 30.—A family of skunks living under his garage and within a few feet of his bedroom is making life miserable for Charles S. Hills, residing on the outskirts of town, and though he appealed to city authorities, they could offer no help.

Hills said he cannot sleep at night unless he wears a gas mask.

The city health department told Hills it did not believe skunks a menace to the public health, the city attorney declared he could find no law the skunks had broken, and the municipal judge asserted the matter did not come under his authority.

Report Made on Tunnel's Cavein

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Insufficient timber retaining the rock and earth walls of the Bucks mountain tunnel, Plumas county, led to the recent cavein which cost the lives of five "hard rock" miners, in an opinion announced by G. Chester Brown, chief mining engineer of the industrial accident commission.

Brown's investigation is preliminary to a general probe, to be undertaken by the commission.

William R. Fontaine, San Francisco, and H. W. Dardier, Nevada City, Calif., the contractors, were exonerated from blame in Brown's report.

LONG BEACH.—Appointment of a committee to frame definite plans for building a new clubhouse at Ocean boulevard and Cedar avenue has been ordered by the Long Beach lodge of Elks. The idea of a new building, brought up three weeks ago by Carroll M. Counts, exalted ruler, is said by officers to have aroused a wave of enthusiasm within the lodge membership. Sale of half of its square quarter of a block at Ocean and Cedar to obtain funds for erecting a four to six-story clubhouse on the remainder of the area has been suggested to the lodge as a course of procedure, according to Elks' executives. Several times during the past few years the Elks have taken preliminary steps to construct a new building, but the plans were abandoned in their early stages. The increasing need of larger quarters, however, has now caused the united membership to back Mr. Counts' policy of expansion.

ONTARIO.—Clawing of a giant steam shovel into the city tract at Eighth street and Campus avenue inaugurated the task of constructing Ontario's new 10,000,000 gallon water reservoir that will, when completed, assure the community of plenty of water for commercial and domestic purposes despite prolonged droughts. City Service Manager Otto S. Roen estimates that 120 days' actual work will be required to put the huge cavity in shape to hold the enormous supply of water. Herz Construction company of San Bernardino has the contract to construct the reservoir. The recent city board election that voted $175,000 in bonds will provide for construction of the reservoir, laying of additional miles of pipe, and other improvements that will give to the community all that is desired in a modern water supply system.

WHITTIER.—Interest increases in the third annual Industrial Exposition and Avocado Show which is to open May 3 and continue to May 8, as time for the opening approaches and new exhibits and enterprises are announced. Whittier, being one of the best known avocado districts of the state, naturally a fine exhibit of the semi-tropical fruit is expected, and those interested in its culture will find many interesting displays at the big show. The Quaker City pioneered in the development of avocados on American soil.

SAN FERNANDO.—Lettuce harvest is on in full swing in this district. A carload a day is being brought in and crated for outside shipment by the local packing house. A considerable portion of the early crop was damaged by the recent rains, but that now being marketed is reported as of exceptionally fine quality.

THE GOVERNOR'S LETTER

In another column on this page The Register publishes a letter received from Governor Richardson in which the Governor makes a statement as to why he pocket-vetoes the measure that had been drawn up with the hope that Santa Ana might secure financial relief.

Inasmuch as the Governor has raised a number of points of objection not hitherto raised—at least, not raised here—we are inclined to discuss these points editorially. Our first inclination was to present the letter without comment. Second thought, however, prevailed.

While Santa Ana was not interested in the proposal of the bill requiring a two-thirds vote for incorporation instead of a majority vote, it appears to us that that feature need not have stood in the way of bringing to us the remedy that we sought, through a measure that had been agreed upon by various interests here. We rather think that had the question of a two-thirds vote or a majority vote been left to the vote of the people of this county, the two-thirds provision would have been approved overwhelmingly. We have had two municipalities, Stanton and Orange, organized by a majority vote, which, after a few years struggle, proceeded to disincorporate. It appears to us that incorporation, like bonds, should require a two-thirds vote. So, on that point we cannot agree that the Governor's veto was necessary or advisable.

Second, this bill sought to make it possible, not mandatory, for a municipality to secure a city manager form of government, recognized these days as the most economical and most businesslike form of government known to municipalities. The Governor says an objectionable feature was the fact that the bill, which provided that a four-fifths vote of the Board of City Trustees could appoint a manager, allowed a three-fifths vote to remove a manager. Both provisions are plainly advantageous. Anyone to whom the managership was to be given ought to have a four-fifths vote, and, surely, any manager who has so far lost the confidence of the city board that three out of the five are sure he ought to be removed, ought to be removed forthwith. If there is anything in the bill giving the cities of the sixth class, which would include all of the municipalities of this county excepting Santa Ana, too much leeway, frankly, we are unable to find it. No city of either class would have to adopt the city manager system under the bill, but it could be adopted on the vote of the people of a city. And they ought to have that right.

Third, the bill did allow the limit to be raised from $1 to $1.25, but the change was amply protected in that it would require the unanimous vote of the City Trustees to make the change. The Governor points out that Santa Ana can revert to the old method of having a city assessment by the city assessor method. True, absolutely true—and that was the very thing that Santa Ana was trying to avoid having to do. That was one of two pressing, outstanding reasons why the measure was submitted. The other reason was that we wanted to have a better city government through adopting the city manager system. And that is why, up to this time, even after reading the Governor's letter, we have been unable to find any adequate defense whatever for the failure of Governor Richardson to sign this bill.

Instead of being one-third right and two-thirds wrong, we are convinced that the bill was three-fourths right. It had been passed out of legislative committees, where it was closely scrutinized, with recommendations that it do pass, and was passed by both houses of the legislature. All the legislators representing counties in which all of the cities of the fifth and sixth classes are located had the opportunity to present arguments against it. So we believe we are justified in saying that the responsibility for our plight as a municipality today lies with the Governor. We believed the measure should be presented to the next Legislature. The probability is that the next Legislature, like the last one, will find nothing wrong with the bill, and we hope that it can become law. Santa Ana needs this legislation.

DEBT SETTLEMENT

Still more important than approval of the Italian debt settlement is the new prospect of a French settlement. An agreement standing for honest recognition of about $4,000,000,000 of debt principal but allowing the most liberal terms possible, in interest rates and schedule of payment, would be a big benefit to both countries.

The chief result of such a settlement would be psychological. Not much is expected in the way of actual collection for many years. But a definite arrangement to pay, once made, would remove a cause of irritation in this country, stop the bickering on both sides, open new sources of French credit and enable France to balance her budget and find new funds for industry.

Better international relations and better business conditions are the principal reasons for funding any of those foreign debts. Whatever cash we get is just so much to the good.

THE BUDGET MACHINE

Some people like to have fortune tellers or crystal gazers tell them what the future holds in store. Others like to plan what they want the future to bring them and then set about to make the plans come true. For this second group, the budget machine at the Women's World Fair in Chicago is of interest. This machine, devised by the head of the home economics department of a large bank, enables its manipulator to tell instantly what any given family should spend for food, clothes, rent, welfare and reserves. A wife approaches the home economics expert and tells the family income and the number of children; the machine and the expert then give her facts and good advice.

The average family, according to some of these facts, should spend for rent or apply on the purchase of a home one week's salary a month. It should spend for upkeep—heat, light, laundry, telephone, ice, etc.—half the amount spent for rent. It may spend for food about one-fifth of its income, and for clothes one-tenth. When this schedule is followed as closely as possible, it leaves the family another tenth for such things as a car, radio, gifts, recreation and church collection. One tenth is also available for insurance, a savings account, investments and income tax payment.

It sounds a bit oracular without specific figures. But it's a lead in the right direction. And, as said before, the family that prefers to make its own future, rather than have it revealed by a soothsayer, will do well to take up the budget machine seriously.

Styles are started by those who look good in them, and ended by those who don't.

Better Keep It Anchored

San Bernardino Sun
Before citizens of San Bernardino county rush to the support of the initiative measure on highway matters as has been prepared by the Automobile Club of Southern California, it might pay them to request certain information from the sponsors of the proposed bill.

For many years the route of the Old Trails highway has been listed in state enactments as running from San Bernardino to Needles.

Under the automobile club's arrangement a highway "From Mojave to the Colorado river near Needles; and an extension thereof from Mojave to Bakersfield," is provided.

If the act succeeds in attracting the support of the majority of the voters of California at the November election, much of San Bernardino county would be removed, at least officially, from this main transcontinental highway.

The rather unusual move of changing the long established legal designation of the highway has attracted the attention of highway students in San Bernardino county. To put it mildly some of them are suspicious.

To repeat the words of the proposed bill most interesting in San Bernardino county: "From Mojave to the Colorado river near Needles."

Why is there not inserted the words "via Barstow?"

Why is the place on the Colorado river fixed as "near Needles?"

It should also be borne in mind that extending from Los Angeles to Mojave is a paved boulevard. There is no doubt but that Los Angeles interests played a big part in the framing of the proposed highway system. It is no longer a secret that men who have worked long and faithfully for the interests of San Bernardino county in state highway matters were never consulted as to where primary highways in San Bernardino county should be located.

Lurking in the background and never fully explained is the proposal by someone, generally blamed on a federal authority, that the Old Trails highway should pass to the north of Needles, and proceed in a due westerly direction across the desert of San Bernardino county.

Again we read the new wording of the legal description of this highway: "From Mojave to the Colorado River near Needles."

Lay a rule on any map of San Bernardino county, touching Searchlight, Nevada, opposite which there is a very good Colorado river crossing, and Mojave. Barstow is 25 miles to the south.

Could it be there is a dream—from the Colorado river to Los Angeles via Mojave, and Mojave only.

San Bernardino county will see no good reason why the legal phraseology is altered. The Old Trails highway from "San Bernardino to Needles via Barstow" suits this county. It will not be interested in indefinite language that may in reality mean the present route but which could very easily mean something else. At present writing the Old Trails highway is anchored definitely and in a satisfactory manner in San Bernardino county.

We are in the process of seeing a farm college move from Riverside to Los Angeles. Perhaps it would be wise to keep the Old Trails highway anchored just where it is.

QUEST FOR YOUTH IS ETERNAL

The desire to remain young in mind and body is quite natural and commendable. Too often, however, efforts to stave off the inevitable imprint of advancing age are confined to improving or preserving the general appearance.

In proof of this statement, there may be cited innumerable "beauty shops," hair dyes, "youthful lines" in clothing advertisements and preparations offered in the shops for youthful and beautiful appearance.

The eternal search for the fountain of youth is not peculiar to the present age and generation. The legends of many of the older nations tell of a magic water, closely guarded and difficult of acquisition.

According to these fables a draught of this potent fluid caused time to turn backward in its flight, transforming the fortunate recipient of the charm from a decrepit old man or woman into a handsome youth or maiden.

The quest for rejuvenation of Ponce de Leon at the fount in Florida is a tale greatly beloved by school children. It is entirely probable that the fables of this type were natural expressions of the desires of old people for rejuvenation.

Rejuvenation may be regarded as the state of remaining young or of growing young again. At the same time the disabilities incident to old age are delayed. However, from a physiological standpoint, such a transformation is impossible.

The truth is that old age is an inevitable and inescapable process. It will come to every human being.

Health is dependent in great measure upon the normal functioning of many glands within the human body. As one grows older, the normal functions of these glands are first modified and finally suspended.

Scientists have been zealous in their efforts to replace the burnt out glandular elements, hoping that rejuvenation might result. Some of their experiments, especially upon the lower animals, have been interesting and decidedly suggestive.

Sensational newspaper reports of rejuvenation following the transplantation of certain glands have aroused hopes and focused attention upon this operative procedure.

Many have felt that it was particularly unfortunate that elderly persons with means could procure this elixir of life while the elderly poor were condemned to premature suffering and death. A study of the results thus far obtained through this operation plainly indicates that the so-called rejuvenations have been, at best, short-lived, transitory and generally disappointing.

Competent authorities regard the supposedly beneficial results as pure figments of the imagination induced by suggestion, ardent desire for results and expectation of benefits.

The Thief Who Got Away

Redlands Facts

Thirty-six years ago the State of Louisiana was robbed of two hundred thousand dollars by a state treasurer who proved to be a thief. The defaulter escaped to Honduras before he could be apprehended and lived in that country until a few weeks ago.

A new generation is now in control of affairs in Louisiana which does not remember the scandal thirty-six years old. They dropped the charges a short time ago with the result that the treasurer has come back. He is now eighty-five years of age.

For thirty-six years he has not been a citizen. He could not participate in Honduras affairs for he was not a legal citizen. He could not hold property because he was a fugitive from justice. If he had been attacked on the street, or if his money had been stolen, he had no recourse in the courts for he had no rights. He was able to get no justice except that which was given to him, freely, by good citizens or that which he was able to command for himself by force of arms or bluster.

For thirty-six years he has lived alone. Those from whom he stole in Louisiana did not care to visit him. His shame and disgrace drove him to avoid visitors from the states. The occasions that meant much to the citizens of Honduras meant least to him because he could not walk among men in honor and dignity. He was a thief.

For thirty-six years he lived in hiding. He dared not travel. The small circle of friends among whom he lived was composed of those who knew his sin and had agreed to help him hide.

For thirty-six years he lived with his imagination. No fiend more vindictive has ever tormented the soul of man than an active imagination. If the cables and newspapers did not bring news his imagination invented it—and it always invented the worst. He lived the constant companion of fears, forebodings, rumors, reports, hearsay and nightmares.

For thirty-six years he lived under the scorn of honest men, endured the contempt of good men, overheard nothing but harsh comments, enjoyed no sympathy, spent no dollar that he could call his own, looked into the face of every stranger with suspicion lest he be a secret agent in disguise. For thirty-six years he was never able to escape his own conscience for one moment.

By this misery and shame he gained five thousand dollars a year.

Now he has come back. His money is almost gone. His friends have been gone for thirty-six years. He has but a few more years to live. By all the laws of crime he succeeded. He stole and he got away. But did he win?

Did it pay?

MY SHADOW

I have a little shadow that goes in and out with me,
And what can be the use of him is more than I can see;
He is very, very like me from the heels up to the head;
And I see him jump before me when I jump into my bed.

The funniest thing about him is the way he likes to grow—
Not at all like proper children, which is always very slow;
For he sometimes shoots up taller like an india-rubber ball,
And he sometimes gets so little that there's none of him at all.

He hasn't got a notion of how children ought to play,
And can only make a fool of me in every sort of way;
He stays so close beside me he's a coward you can see;
I'd think shame to stick to nurse as that shadow sticks to me.

One morning very early, before the sun was up,
I rose and found the shining dew on every buttercup;
But my lazy little shadow, like an arrant sleepy-head,
Had stayed at home behind me and was fast asleep in bed.

Governor Tells Why He Vetoed City

Governor's Office, Sacramento, California, April 26, 1926.

Editor Register—In your issue of March 31, according to Allen's Press Clipping Bureau, you said: "A year ago this city, through the county's Assemblyman, had a bill introduced providing for a measure of relief for the city's financial condition. This bill was agreed to in Santa Ana by the city administration and was actually drawn up by Attorney H. C. Head, representing a group that previous to that time had opposed a number of steps that had been taken with a view to giving the city council power to raise more money than has heretofore been possible. The bill passed, but for some unknown reason, if there was any reason, Governor Richardson failed to sign it. If needed municipal legislation is treated that way by the chief executive, an effort to get a street protection law may meet a similar fate at Governor Richardson's hands, if he is re-elected."

Heretofore I have found the Register very fair in correcting misstatements of this kind, and hence I venture to give you the reasons why this bill was not signed, or in common parlance, was pocket vetoed.

The bill mentioned was Assembly Bill No. 659, introduced by Assemblyman Hartman. The bill was intended to amend the municipal corporate act in three particulars:

First, by requiring a two-thirds instead of a majority vote to organize a municipality. The law as it now stands requires only a majority vote and is apparently working satisfactorily. I saw no reason why the majority rule should not be sustained in this case.

Second, authorizing cities of the fifth and sixth classes to create the office of city manager. The law as it now stands permits a commission form and an objection to the proposed change while it requires a vote to appoint a manager could be voted of three to one.

Third, it changed the fifth class, but the sixth class, but the matter of the misall of a city. Third, it changed the tax levy in cities from $1.00 to $1.00 of assessed provision also portionment of various funds in certain indicated. It was in the city of Santa Ana particularly interesting city of the fifth have any interest in the bill. Santa Ana vantage of the assessments and taxes to be done by officers, and it was the county assessor has so low that not sufficient could be raised by the basis of the $1 tax possible for the city to revert to the old making its own assessment is also possible for city class to levy a special for practically all purposes. This bill, like all sent to me, was considered, and the provisions of the bill objectionable, it was a of the whole truth as one-third of the truth to the vetoing or pocketing of a bill.

Hoping you will give publicity, I am, Yours sincerely, FRIEND W. RICHARDSON

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

We love to merrily at the Little Gray House, and recently it has seemed that so many things were called to our attention, each so beautifully pointing the nicest kind of a moral. For instance Pat-sh was at the Little Gray House recently for an all-too-brief call and related the tale of her hyacinths.

Pat-sh had never grown hyacinths, and as she feelingly pointed out, how was she to know that the bulbs had to be planted right-side-up? After a lengthy interval, when there was no sign of a green shoot, she dug one of the bulbs up to see what was wrong—and that persevering little flower soul had grown, sending its tender shoots downward through the soil, and there, in the cool depths of the earth was a delicate little chain of hyacinth bells, all faintly pink, blue, coming in spite of every adversity that a flower soul could face!

Then there was talk a few days later, of the old stone house on Lake Erie's shores, where the Ohio sister now at the Little Gray House for a California Visit, spent lazy summer days. She was telling about the black Tartarian cherries growing there. "The first trees have grown up around the so, that the cherry trees have push up above them to get as enough to ripen their fruits. But oh, how delicious the cherries are even though they are so hard to get."

Determined and courageous little hyacinth, blossoming under conditions that would discourage any saint among posies, under gable cherry trees, pushing at the encroaching, clutching to bear rich fruits in the sunlit. Write your own moral.

Dear Lady of the Patches:

The concluding paragraph of J. P. B.'s recent contribution, reminded me of a piece I have stored away among my scraps, that I thought might make a patch for The Quilt, some time. I therefore submit it to your editorial judgment.

Yours, NEMO.

And I thought: Why can't we all see those who love us with only the eyes of love and forgiveness? Why can't we magnify their virtues and minify their faults? Or not see their faults at all? Or, if we do see them, pretend not to? Just put our arms around them and say "I love you," which is what the boy meant when he said "Good old dog!"

J. P. B.
